U.S. Has Power, Won't Lose It: President

Nation Is Leading, He Advises Cites Tests While Ban Talk Goes On

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States packs military power second to none in the world and won't be fooled by the Soviets into losing this strength.

To maintain the U.S. position, he proposes:

To seek additional money for defense next year.

To keep a steady eye on U.S. strength, intelligence and commitments in relation to the capabilities of its adversaries.

To get ready for nuclear tests in the atmosphere and to conduct them if necessary.

It was in connection with nuclear test readiness that Kennedy declared Wednesday the United States is determined not to be maneuvered out of a position of power. He reminded his news conference that the Soviet Union prepared for its current series of nuclear blasts while discussing a test ban over the conference table.

Won't Be Fooled Twice
"If they fooled us once, it is their fault," Kennedy said, "and if they fool us twice, it is our fault."

Kennedy, who previously had signaled a rise in military expenditures, did not say how much he would ask Congress to appropriate next year. The 1961-62 defense budget, increased $6 billion since he took office in January, is about $47 billion.

This was Kennedy's 18th presidential news conference—his first in nearly a month. It ran for about a half hour and was lightened by flashes of humor. While it produced nothing especially new, it gave the President a chance to express his views on many things—from military power to recent Democratic triumphs at the polls.

Victories Phase Him
He is reluctant, Kennedy said, to predict future results on the basis of past elections. But had Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, Gov.-elect Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Rep.-elect Henry B. Gonzalez of Texas lost he said, "It would have been interpreted as a stunning setback for this administration." So he said he would break his rule and say their victories were a "source of satisfaction to us" and indicate the voters believe both the candidates and Democratic party are committed to progress.

With a smile, he added: "I suppose some day we will lose and I will have to eat those words."

Kennedy replied with vigor when a questioner said some people regard the views of Prime Minister Nehru of India as tending to be pro-Communist.

"I know of no rational man in the United States who holds that view," Kennedy asserted. Nehru is in Washington for talks with the President.

Talks About Business
In reference to attempts to assure business leaders he is not anti-business, Kennedy said, "Well, it is to stop them saying we are anti-business we are supposed to cease enforcing the antitrust law, I suppose the cause is lost." He added there can be "no long-range hostility" between business and government but would up: "Whether I can convince them or not, I don't know."

Other Comment
On other subjects, Kennedy had this to say:

News Conferences—Asked why he doesn't meet the press more often, Kennedy said the public interest justified his present schedule because most obvious topics deal with sensitive foreign policy. He held conferences nearly every week after Congress reconvenes, he said, and wouldn't object to several a week if he considered them in the public interest at the time.

Eisenhower — Kennedy announced former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had agreed to serve as board chairman of a new "People to People" organization designed to promote contacts with citizens of other nations. The original program was established under Eisenhower in 1956.

South Viet Nam — Kennedy barred inquiries on what help the United States plans to extend to the beleaguered Southeast Asian country until both governments can review findings of a survey mission headed by Gen. Maxwell a new coalition government, is expected to continue his tough policy toward the Communist bloc despite the wish of his coalition partners, the Free Democrats. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Frankfurt)

JFK, Nehru Will Wind Up Talks, Views Are Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Nehru of India wind up four days of consultations today with differences still existing between them on nuclear testing and other major cold war problems.

Divergence of views may be reflected in the communiqué to be issued by the White House after a farewell call from the Indian neutralist in mid-afternoon.

Area of Differences
Earlier, Nehru speaks at the National Press Club.

Areas of differences between the two leaders included these:

Nuclear testing: Nehru wants a voluntary moratorium resumed; Kennedy will not commit the United States to a second moratorium with the Soviet Union.

Summit: Nehru has urged Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Kennedy to meet again to avert

Predicts Victories To Help JFK Program

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted today that Democratic election victories in New Jersey, New York and Texas have enhanced prospects for pushing President Kennedy's legislative program through Congress.

Mansfield said in an interview that the results reflect "a vote of confidence in the President and will strengthen his hand" with congressmen, "who are adept at understanding the handwriting on the wall."

Taking much the same tack, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said the vote "demonstrates that the people strongly approve of the President's actions and legislative programs to get America on the move again."

Bailey added in a statement: "I hope that it will persuade the obstructionist Republican leadership of the Congress to adopt different tactics in the next session."

Mansfield said the victories were not due only to the efforts of the candidates, but to the "final push" given by Kennedy in New Jersey and New York City and by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who campaigned for Henry B. Gonzalez in Texas.

Gonzalez won a House seat. Kennedy appeared for Richard J. Hughes who won an upset victory in the race for governor of New Jersey and for Mayor Robert F. Wagner in his successful bid for re-election to a third term in New York City.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also had comments Wednesday on the three races. In a statement issued at Gettysburg, Pa., he described the losses as "disappointments and said they proved that manpower, money, party unity and grass roots organization are essential to victory."

Mansfield said it has been "a great autumn" for the Democratic party under Kennedy and Johnson and the election returns "clearly foreshadow the support which the American people are prepared to give the President in this decade of danger."

Among other things, Mansfield contended, the Democratic victories strengthen Kennedy's chances of passing a medical care bill for the elderly as well as an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

Defense Due Of Policy in Race Problem

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Faced with almost certain U.N. condemnation and possibly a call for a worldwide diplomatic and trade boycott, South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw goes before the U. N. special political committee today to defend his government's white supremacy policy.

Sources in his delegation said Louw would deal at length with the demand for sweeping boycotts and possible expulsion from the U. N. sponsored by 30 Asian-African countries and Cuba.

Informants said Louw would stress his government's contention that apartheid—racial segregation—is an internal matter and none of the U. N.'s business and would charge that the assembly had set up a double standard for judging actions—with the small nations serving as whipping boys.

Two rival resolutions on the South African race question have been submitted to the committee.

The 31-nation draft calls for diplomatic and economic sanctions and draws the attention of the Security Council to the question of expelling South Africa from the world body.

A milder proposal put in by seven nations calls on South Africa to change its race policies and urges members to impose whatever penalties they might want under the U. N. Charter.

Get Out: Soviet
The Soviet bloc has thrown its support behind the 31-nation draft and has urged that South Africa be expelled, but most members oppose such a drastic step, contending it would do more harm than good.

The United States and Britain have come out against any boycott, but both have called for a

Schwenk Win Conceded, Statements Are Made

Wednesday's verification tour of polling places to determine Kingston's mayoral election totals indicated that Republican John J. Schwenk won over incumbent Edwin F. Radel by 85 instead of the 86 votes first reported.

Mayor Radel conceded the election after the tally at about 3 p. m. and congratulated his successor. Both spoke briefly after the results were known, and statements came also from Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, as county Republican leader, and Attorney Howard C. St. John as City GOP leader, and Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, Democratic incumbent who was re-elected over Republican Benjamin Schecter.

Telegram From Javits
Mayor-elect Schwenk received a congratulatory telegram from Senator Jacob K. Javits. It reads:

"Congratulations on your magnificent victory. It is a tribute to your outstanding abilities, and a demonstration of the popularity of Republican leadership in New York State."

Schwenk said he would do all within his power to give the city more efficient government. Mayor Radel said he has given his "maximum energies" in serving his two terms. They were enjoyable and memorable years, he said.

Point to Policies
Wilson and St. John both emphasized that the election was a definite vote of confidence in policies of the Republican Party, and Kaye regretted that Mayor Radel was not with him in victory.

While the city registration this year was not a record one, it was noted, the number of voters who turned out showed exceptional results from the efforts of all parties to "get out the vote."

The total registration was 13,594. The vote cast was 13,030, exclusive of voids. This indicates that all but some 500 persons, who were registered, appeared at the polls.

Aims for Efficiency
Schwenk's statement in full: "Friends, neighbors, and all of my fellow Kingstonians, there is much that should be said at a moment such as this, but I find it very difficult to speak because of the happiness within me, and because I feel very humble."

"I realize that you have placed your confidence in me to achieve the goals for Kingston, which I set forth during my campaign. Now that I have been elected, I want you to know, these were not shallow campaign promises. They were commitments which I shall do my best to achieve as your mayor."

"Your support at the polls has given me confidence in the principles I've stated. Your support has proven to me that the things I want for Kingston are the things you want for Kingston. I promise this to you: I will use all the ability I have, all the experience I've gained in public

Prendergast to Go: Wagner

No Amnesty: Mayor On Dissident Dems

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner is refusing "amnesty" to Democratic leaders who opposed him and he is sticking to his declaration that state party chairman Michael H. Prendergast must be replaced.

And there is a lot of party power behind his words.

Undisputed Leader: Bailey
Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey says Wagner's reelection to a third term makes him the "undisputed leader" of the Democrats in the state.

And President Kennedy has telegraphed his congratulations to Wagner, saying: "Your reelection has again demonstrated the faith of the urban voter in the leadership and vitality of the Democratic Party."

Bailey, who is close to the White House, predicted to news-men Wednesday that the Democratic patronage problem at the state would "all be worked out in the weeks ahead."

He would not make any prediction about a replacement for Prendergast.

The state chairman, in disfavor at the White House since the 1960 national campaign, has been starving for patronage.

To Revitalize Party
Wagner said at a news conference Wednesday that he will seek "revitalization of the entire Democratic leadership" in the state as well as in New York City.

The mayor named as his main targets for replacement Prendergast and Rep. Charles A. Buckley, Bronx leader, and Joseph T. Sharkey, Brooklyn leader.

Prendergast went to the extent of opposing Wagner in last Tuesday's election.

Wagner was asked specifically how Prendergast stood.

"There has to be a change," he said. (Continued on Page 12, Col. 5)

Savings Banks Interest Raised To 3.34 Per Cent

Oren Root, New York State Superintendent of Banks and Chairman of the Banking Board, today announced that the Banking Board, upon his recommendation, had raised the ceiling on dividend rates payable by savings banks to a basic rate of 3 3/4 per cent per annum, and had eliminated the ceiling on funds on deposit for two years or more.

The action of the Banking Board will be effective for the quarter beginning January 1, 1962.

In making his recommendations to the Banking Board, Superintendent Root indicated

Ulster Town Slices Budget Costs Again

For the fourth consecutive year the taxpayers of the Town of Ulster will find a decrease in the cost of town government. This was disclosed at the public hearing on the preliminary budget Wednesday night before the Town Board at Lake Katrine Grange hall.

Won't Neglect Needs
Supervisor Alexander J. Banvo (R), told the approximately 50 townspeople at the hearing that while the budget has been decreased each year over the past four, necessary services to the town have not been decreased and this policy will be continued during the coming year. He gave credit to the members of the town board for the cooperation given to keep down the costs of town government in these days of increasing costs, and promised that in the coming year no essential need of the town would be neglected. There was no opposition to the proposed budget.

Total expenditures in the General Fund for 1962 are anticipated in the budget at $83,120 and anticipated revenues amount to $80,565, leaving only $2,554.60 to be raised by direct taxation. This is $6,810.40 less than in 1961.

Welfare Fund in the budget amounts to $5,512 of which $3,112 will be raised by direct taxation. This is $1,000 less than last year.

Highway Fund, which includes such items as maintenance, bridges, snow removal, etc., is $92,727.65, almost identical with the $92,549.90 budget item for 1961, but the 1962 budget includes the first payment of $5,000 for a big mechanical loader bought this year.

Special district sums are generally less than last year. Among them are:

Young GIs Bound for Basic Camp Plane Tragedy Claims 77 Lives

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Seventy-four young Army draftees and volunteers, en route to begin training only hours after taking their service oaths, perished in the fiery crash of a chartered plane near here Wednesday night. Three of the five crew members died also.

Two Engines Dead
The big four-engine Imperial Airlines Constellation was striving desperately to reach the safety of Byrd Airport with two engines out. It made one unsuccessful pass at the field and circled for another try.

Suddenly, an airport observer reported, the plane "dropped straight down. A ball of fire shot up. It must have gone 300 feet in the air." Explosions echoed through the cold, starry night as rescuers raced to the scene in a marshy woodland.

It was 9:24 p. m.

The crash was the second worst single plane disaster in the United States. The record toll for a single plane occurred Sept. 1 when a Trans World Airlines Constellation plunged into a cornfield near Chicago, killing all 78 aboard.

Victims Gay Hours Before
Only a few hours before, most of the young Army recruits had been in a gay mood as they boarded the aircraft in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland on their way to basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

For various reasons, six of them were not inducted and returned home, missing death by a whim of fate.

One is Joseph Niland, 23, Clifton, N.J., who would have been on the plane.

But he received a traffic a year ago. When he reported for induction he said the Army told him to go back home, have the ticket cleared and then he would be recalled.

Only Two Survive
Only the pilot and flight engineer of the plane survived the crash. Their accounts of events leading up to the crash was not immediately available. Neither was critically hurt.

However, federal authorities said the aircraft developed engine trouble about 10 miles west of Richmond and headed for an emergency landing at Byrd Field, just east of the city. The authorities said the first landing attempt was thwarted by landing gear difficulties.

Today there began the grim task of trying to identify the charred and broken bodies of the 77 victims.

Firemen played streams of foam extinguisher on the smoldering skeleton of the plane in the early morning hours.

A Civil Air Patrol officer at the scene, Lt. Col. Alfred C. Nowitzky, said identifications might never be complete.

All in Craft Consumed
"All the bodies were consumed that were left in the plane," Nowitzky said. "There was nothing anybody could do except contain the fire."

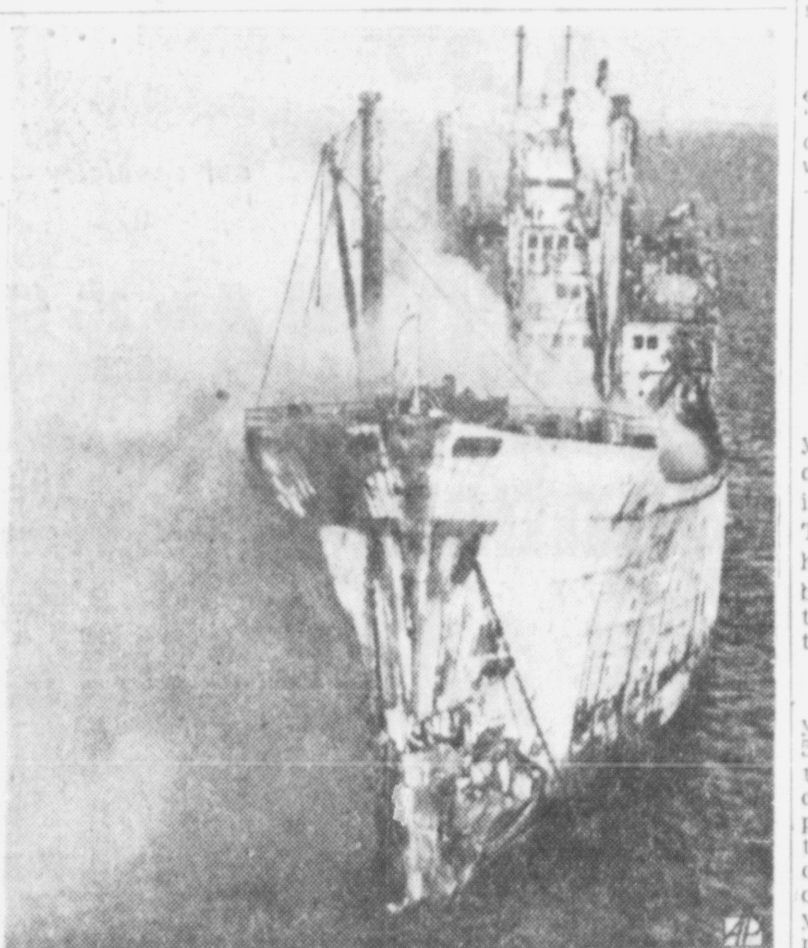

The pilot of the plane, Capt. Ronald Conway, 29, of West Hollywood, Fla., said he survived by climbing out a window in the cockpit after the crash. His flight engineer, W. F. Poythress, 30, of Miami, escaped through a door. Neither was critically hurt.

Conway told newsmen there were 73 recruits aboard the plane with its crew of five. Army lists of the passengers, however, showed only 74 servicemen on the aircraft, 70 of them recruits and four of them regular Army enlistees.

It was the worst plane crash in Virginia history, with fatalities far exceeding the toll of 30 in the crash of a Capital Airlines VC-119 at Hatteras on Jan. 18, 1960. The last big crash near here was in 1956 when 27 perished in the crash of a Viking Air Transport Co. plane.

Made Two Stops
The Imperial Constellation, one of three Imperial aircraft under contract to the Army to haul recruits, had taken off from Newark, N.J., and stopped at the Wilkes-Barre-Seranton, Pa., airport and at Baltimore, Md., to pick up additional recruits destined for Ft. Jackson, S.C., for basic training.

The Army's listing showed that 22 recruits and 4 regular Army enlistees boarded the plane at Newark. 31 recruits boarded her ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Leo Manz thought she had termites in her house when she noticed plaster on the floor of an unoccupied bedroom. However, an exterminator discovered a hole in the ceiling, and Mrs. Manz then found a .50-caliber machine gun bullet behind a closet door. Police theorized that a military aircraft might have fired the bullet.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Mix Pork Sauce With Egg Noodles

ZESTFUL, well-seasoned pork sauce surrounded with egg noodles to provide a very appetizing autumn main dish.

Egg noodles are a popular and very versatile food. Pork is on the plentiful list for November. All we need to complete a delicious triangle is a good and different recipe.

Well, here it is—noodles with pork sauce. Flavored with tomatoes, onion, garlic, herbs and lemon juice, the ground pork is served on a platter with tender noodles.

Noodles With Pork Sauce
(Makes 4 servings)

1 tablespoon salad oil
1 pound ground pork
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon rosemary
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup stock or bouillon
1/4 cup chopped parsley
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)

Heat salad oil. Add pork and onion and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until pork is browned. Add garlic, oregano, rosemary, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, tomato soup, stock or bouillon, parsley and lemon juice; mix well. Cover and cook over medium heat 40 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve noodles with sauce.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Most television viewers have not yet had time to establish new habits—whether to dial in "Sing Along with Mitch" or stick with "The Untouchables"; whether to settle down with Garry Moore or see what Fred Astaire's show is up to.

But the programming masterminds on the three major TV networks are already hard at work dreaming up TV menus for next season—which starts some 10 months hence. And they already have come to some conclusions about current viewing tastes.

For instance, they are certain that the so-called "adult cartoon," which was supposed to be one of the big items of the current season, has turned out to be a big bust.

They are also convinced that viewers are finally getting sick and tired of the private eye, crime-buster and man-with-the-badge shows which sprouted all over this season's schedules.

They are beginning to be wary of violence-for-violence's sake.

too, not necessarily because it is so loudly criticized: They think that viewers are becoming more sophisticated, bored with the same old battles, and not watching the shows.

And, of course, the Western is still in the TV doghouse.

Next season, it appears likely, we'll begin to see the return of the good, old half-hour show, largely because an hour-long programming mistake is a lot more expensive than a half-hour goof.

The emphasis will be on dramatic shows built around a continuing set of characters, as demonstrated by "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey" and "The Defenders," three successful new entries.

Recommended tonight: "CBS Reports," 10-11—"In Case of War," first of a two-part series on the effects of nuclear warfare and prospects for survival.

Two Point Out War Orphans Act Schooling Help

The surviving parent or guardian of minor children of members of the armed forces killed in action or who later died of service-incurred disabilities were reminded today by Charles Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, that those children are entitled under the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act to financial benefits from the federal government in pursuing their educational goals.

Explaining the program, Culver and Tyler said that a child to take advantage of this opportunity must generally be between 18 and 23 years of age, inclusive, and that the act is designed principally to aid the eligible student pursue a college education. Regular high school training is not included, but certain below college level education is permissible under the act.

Students under the act receive $110 per month while in training which is reduced to $80 monthly for three-quarters time and to $50 for half-time training. There is an overall limitation of 36 months training and a provision prohibiting the benefits to extend beyond the recipient's 31st birthday. Marriage does not bar payments under the law. Several thousand "war orphans" have already taken advantage of the opportunities offered under this law and are now in training under the Act. It is estimated that over 100,000 are potential eligibles, Culver and Tyler continued.

Guardians and parents who have any question as to the eligibility of children to benefits under this law or to other educational benefits available to children of veterans through State and private scholarship funds are urged to get in touch with their New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs office and Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency at 32 Main Street, with branch offices in Ellenville, Kerhonkson, Saugerties and Highland.

TO MAINTAIN STABILITY

It is to be hoped that President Kennedy, in admonishing governmental departments to trim financial sail, will provide an important stimulus in helping the nation to maintain the stability of its currency. A developing unfavorable trade balance emphasizes the importance of such measures.

A year ago this imbalance sparked an outflow of gold which for a time threatened a minor panic. The threat was short-lived, however. President Eisenhower's order forbidding Americans to hold gold on foreign deposit after last June 1 arrested the gold outflow. For a time our money troubles seemed to have been sidetracked.

Now, however, the challenge to the dollar has been renewed. Financial experts offer various explanations as to why, among them the following:

Our 12 fellow members of the Western Alliance are still not carrying their proportionate share of the defense load.

Growth of the European Common Market threatens to reduce our exports of farm and factory products.

Our receipts from trade, travel and business sources during 1960 lagged 3.8 billions behind our similar expenditures abroad.

Our gross national product is not increasing as rapidly as we had hoped.

Whatever the explanation, the present state of affairs is one which the nation cannot afford to ignore. Reduction of spending by departments of the federal government will help.

The easiest way to be a square is to cut financial corners.

DEATH ON THE GRIDIRON

Statistics about violent death have a certain shock value. They tend to focus close attention on why such deaths occur. Here goes, then: More than 20 football players already have been killed in the game thus far this season, and most of them were high school boys.

This ought to jar school officials and parents of high school students into demanding a long overdue study of causes of grid fatalities. There should be a serious effort to find out why, despite improvements in helmets and other safety equipment, the number of football deaths continues to increase.

Forest Evashevski, University of Iowa athletic director, thinks the nose guards attached to helmets may be responsible for many of the fatalities. Shock to the head is heightened by these devices, in his opinion. He also believes the nose guards make players over-confident and thus more reckless, often with tragic results. Evashevski may be right; he may not. A careful study by experts is indicated.

THE TURKEY OF OLD

The fellow transplanted years ago from farm to city knows that Thanksgiving Day has changed. And he may validly doubt that his sons and daughters, blessed though they are with an abundant board, know the thrill of the feast he once knew.

The big change has been in the turkey. This bird has not always been a double-breasted salute to scientific feeding and coddled confinement. The turkey of yesterday was monarch of the barnyard, and roamed it with unfettered, regal dignity.

The day before Thanksgiving it had to be run down, forced to the chopping block and beheaded. The swing of the axe and its flopping demise constituted shuddery, enduring drama which women and little girls preferred to avoid. The bird was then immersed in scalding water, separated from its feathers, and its interior fittings removed to make room for the dressing.

This turkey, when finally brought to the table, may not have been the plump platter decoration we know today but neither was it an impersonal, long dead prize of forced feeding and refrigeration. It called to mind the pioneers. More than food from the market and the token of convenience, it was the fruit of struggle.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY MONOPOLY OF IMPUDENCE

I am old enough to remember when Americans were polite. The girl at the other end of the telephone was a polite person, with a soft and gentle voice; the messenger who delivered the Western Union telegrams was a polite boy, who wore a uniform and was pleased to receive a tip. Men, when spoken to by ladies, took their hats off. And so it went.

This form of gentility has gone out of American life, although it continues to exist elsewhere. A Western Union messenger no longer wears a uniform and is not likely to be a fast moving boy but is probably anyone from an old man to an old woman, who delivers the message at a snail's pace. Or the message might be telephoned in, which is not what the sender paid for. In fact, a cable from Italy received by American Cables was telephoned to me and then came in the mail two days later. If the sender had used air mail it would not have been much slower and it would have cost less.

Try to complain about poor service to a public utility and you might get a fresh voice at the other end who does not understand that he is paid to perform a service and that it is good public relations to be polite. In fact, the more impudent the response, the more usual is the occasion.

What has done this to our people? When I was a boy, I used to deliver flowers and in those days a dime tip was standard. A sport gave a quarter. But we acted very freely, dime or a quarter, and if anyone got fresh, he was shown the door and was never admitted again. Later, when I went to high school, I got a job as a hat-check boy. I worked in two fashionable restaurants. We got a dime even from millionaires but we were not permitted to keep the money. Our uniforms had no pockets and the concessionaire soon discovered who swiped dimes. As a matter of fact, we often found a way to keep a tip for ourselves, particularly if some fellow wanted to show off as a big spender.

We had to be polite or we were fired. It was a good after-school job, usually running from about 7 p. m. until midnight for the youngsters. I had to earn my way through high school and college, to get a little extra money. There was no union to protect impoliteness. There was no class-consciousness. A job was a job and one was thankful to have one. That is how people got well-off—by holding a job and saving money.

These days, the incompetent, the fresh, the impolite cannot be fired because tenure is protected by unions and money has lost its value and because other people's taxes pay for unemployment as well as for incompetence and inefficiency. Furthermore unions protect the incompetent and inefficient in tenure so that the public suffers from the combination of labor leaders and politicians. The milk strike in New York City, one of the most horrible disturbances of public peace in our time, is an example of the abuse of the public's rights by this combination of labor leaders and politicians. This is a perfect symbol of the public being damned attitude, of babies and the sick being killed by an unwillingness of politicians to meet an embarrassing situation courageously. And the surprising fact is that the public takes impudence without protest.

Just before Election Day, the municipal authorities in New York awoke to the peril to the public, but why did it take so long? This is an essay which asks the question why the public permits itself to suffer. Why do we accept impudence? We are told that it is characteristic of the times; that times have changed. But it has only changed to the extent that the public accepts impudence and impertinence without striking back. Let me return to the matter of telegrams: they should be delivered and signed for. That is part of the transaction. When they are telephoned, there is no record of delivery and acceptance. When they are put under the door or left in a hallway to be picked up, delivery is not established. The sender has no complaint. He should exhibit a sign. The public has many rights as the employee or the management. When a service has been reduced, the public should complain and complain hard.

Murmurs of the Heart

And Their Significance

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column, I explained the formation of the heart into a four-chambered structure with two sets of valves whose principal function is that of preventing backflow when the heart pumps blood into the tissues of the body.

When your heart functions normally, your doctor hears only two sounds with each beat. The first sounds like "lub." It corresponds with the pumping action of the ventricles at a time when the auriculo-ventricular valves are floated upward so as to prevent back-flow into the auricles and when the aortic and pulmonary valves are opened so as to clear the channels through which blood flows to body structures.

The second heart sound is a "dub." Thus, lub-dub, lub-dub at a rate of about 72 a minute, day and night, without interruption for as long as you live.

The second or "dub" sound is made by the clicking of the aortic and pulmonary valves as they snap closed to prevent back-flow into the ventricle that is now filling as mitral and tricuspid valves open to permit blood to flow from auricle to ventricle in preparation for the next contraction.

Quite naturally, there are constant currents of flowing blood throughout these cycles of filling, pumping and emptying. And, quite often, these currents cause ripples which you'd hear if you sat on the bank of a stream and listened to the "babbling brook."

These babblings are called "accidental murmurs" because the mechanism by which they are produced is unrelated to any heart damage. And, because the accidental murmur is not indicative of any impairment of cardiac efficiency, it's the sort of fact you do best to "file and forget."

It is not a storm signal. It needs no treatment. It shouldn't increase your insurance premium, but you ought to know about it so you can tell other doctors who may be called upon to examine you or your children at some future time.

Although accidental murmurs are heard most frequently, the truly organic murmurs are of most consequence. They are produced by structural defects of the heart and/or its valves; for example, small openings in the partitions that separate cardiac chambers, narrowing of valve openings (stenoses) with obstruction to the forward flow of blood or valvular leakage with a back-flow of blood (insufficiency). Under these circumstances, a sort of grumble might precede the lub-dub. Thus, gr-r-r-lub-dub or there might be a sort of hissing between lub and dub or after dub. Thus lub-siss-dub or lub-dub-siss.

But don't let the knowledge that you have an organic murmur throw you into a tizzy. For, in the vast majority of cases, the versatility of the heart is such that it overcomes the handicap imposed by the cause of the organic murmur.

Only rarely does the defect interfere sufficiently with cardiac function to slow you up, warrant an uprating in your insurance premium or produce circulatory embarrassment that unresponsive to skillful treatment by an informed physician. And now thanks to the miracles of cardiac surgery, many of these defects can be repaired.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The basic key to the future military and economic balance of power between the United States and Russia lies in science.

How then do the U. S. and the Soviet Union compare?

Here is that science balance sheet, from interviews with a dozen United States government scientists who, in turn, have compared notes with several score other government and private scientists who keep in close touch with current Russian research.

Over-all in science the United States is well ahead of the Soviet Union.

The Russians are strong in powerful space boosters and they have quite a capability in atomic weapons. They are excellent in instruments for measuring high thrust, high temperature and large weights. They are very good in oceanography. But they do not have the overall strong hand.

That is, over-all Russian science does yet match the science in the West. Much of their work is routine.

THE RUSSIANS TEND TO concentrate their men in key fields, push for a breakthrough. They tend to let wide areas go and depend on American, British and other Western research — which they translate diligently — to carry them in these uncovered areas. Their translation of Western scientific research is fabulous.

The Russians have been doing some very good work in physical chemistry and in explosives. They are good in electrochemistry.

THE RUSSIANS ARE putting a great deal of work into finding a way to use thermonuclear power. They are attempting at least one very good approach. But they are not ahead of the U. S. Soviet scientists are substantially ahead of America in theoretical thermoelectricity.

But they are having a rough time with their practical applications. In solid-state physics, the key to missile and space guidance

THE RUSSIANS HAVE a good tradition in low-temperature physics, essential in the development of better missile fuels. But their work does not compare with that in the United States.

We are ahead in the development of missile fuels. That is, new U. S. fuels pack more power per pound. And U. S. scientists are on the verge of much better exotic fuels. The Reds are behind, too, in high energy physics.

The United States is well ahead in chemical engineering and in electrical and electronic engineering. The Russians continually look to the U. S. here. The American petro-chemical industry is much further advanced than is Russia's.

Russian biology is woefully weak. So is Russian medicine. The one major exception: space medicine. Russian genetics is in pitiful shape. They have done reasonably good work in geophysics.

But they are having a rough time with their practical applications. In solid-state physics, the key to missile and space guidance and control systems and to better communications and sensing devices. The Russians started early, did rather nice work in the 1930s.

But the U. S. has been pushing ahead at a rapid pace. In the past decade, the best work by far on practical applications has been done by American and other Western scientists.

The Reds are way behind the U. S. in application to practical problems.

IN MATHEMATICS, the basis of progress in all the physical sciences, the top Reds and the top American mathematicians are running about neck-and-neck. The Soviet Union has some first-rate men in mathematics and very good theoretical physicists. But for every good man the Soviet has, the U. S. has 10 as good or better.

U. S. mathematics is much broader. There are first-rate Americans in almost every field of mathematics.

The Russians concentrate their men more in a few key fields. The Russians right now are putting a heavy emphasis on the theory of nonlinear differential equations — which relates to missile and rocket control. They have many more people in this field and their work is better.

GOP Gains in Pa.
The story of Republican gains is the same in Pennsylvania, where the Democratic machine in Philadelphia was able to produce for the losing candidate for the state Supreme Court — the only state-wide contest — a mere 79,000 majority as compared with the 320,000 majority it piled up for Mr. Kennedy last year. In Philadelphia itself, the Democratic city controller and the district attorney were returned to office but by margins of around 50,000 as against the 100,000 edge predicted by the head of the Democratic machine. The Republicans, moreover, ousted Democratic mayors in ten Pennsylvania cities, including Erie and Scranton, the latter long a Democratic stronghold.

In Ohio, the Republicans captured the city hall in Youngstown, Canton, Warren and Lorain, and took control of the city governments in Columbus and Toledo. In Kentucky, they won a surprising victory by electing the first Republican mayor of Louisville in twenty-eight years and sweeping other offices in Jefferson County. In upstate New York, they ousted the Democratic mayor of Buffalo, the state's second-largest city, and made substantial gains in other mayoral contests. In Connecticut, while the Democrats retained control of the larger cities, Republicans cut deeply into their margins—in New Haven, for instance, the Democratic mayor's 14,000 plurality of two years ago was reduced to less than 4,000, and in Stamford the 1959 margin of 10,481 was cut by more than half to 4,187.

See Start of Revolt
Plainly there is a revolt on against vested interests and the entrenched power of the bosses in many states and cities. New Jersey is a boss-controlled state where the machines usually dominate Essex and Hudson — two populous counties that can swing any election.

Certain New York City newspapers, which in the past have for the most part supported Democratic nominees for Mayor and supported Mr. Kennedy in 1960, turned thumbs down on Mayor Wagner for re-election and told their readers to vote for the Republican candidate, Attorney General Lefkowitz. But it was of no avail.

Does this mean that the people really don't know the issues? Is there an absence of effective communication between the organs of opinion and the people in the precincts? There is, to be sure, some form of communication that does get votes. It is evidently what the bosses tell their lieutenants to say—and to promise—that often carries the day.

Political debate in the neighborhood used to be important because people knew the people not only next door but a couple blocks away. Today they don't know the residents of the apartment above them. New ways of communicating the facts of political scandal and of political misgovernment must be found if boss control is to be removed. Tuesday's election results, however, do show that across the country the people are being awakened to the misrule by city halls and local political machines and that they are exercising their constitutional right to "desert" their party and vote for opposition candidates in the hope of disciplining their own party leaders. Democracy Lost Votes
Take New Jersey, for instance, where the Democratic nominee for Governor won. Four years ago Gov. Meyner, Democrat, won re-election by an even bigger vote than he polled in 1953. His 1957 total was 1,101,130. But this time the Democrat got around 1,080,000—a loss of 21,000 votes—while the Republican party went from 887,321 in 1959 to around 1,040,000—a gain of more than 142,000.

Take New York City's contest this week Mayor Wagner polled 1,234,533 votes but four years ago his total was 273,000 more, and his 1957 majority of 923,000 was cut this time to 398,000. The Republican candidate for mayor on the other hand, got approximately 250,000 more votes this week than in 1957. There were also 321,966 votes cast on Tuesday for an independent Democratic candidate who had fought the bosses. Doubtless many of the votes he received were a protest against the scandals in the Wagner regime and would have gone to the Republican candidate if the independent had not chosen to run.

Democrats Seen Gloomy Over Vote Gains by GOP

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — You can't tell it by the headlines, because they necessarily have to say whether a Democrat or a Republican won, but Tuesday's election results as a whole have brought gloom in private to the Democrats and correspondingly some unconcealed encouragement to Republican leaders throughout the country.

When a Democrat wins the Governorship in New Jersey, as happened this week, and repeats a victory that the Democratic party won in the state's gubernatorial elections in 1957 and 1953, it doesn't cause much surprise despite overoptimistic predictions on the Republican side. But when the substantial gain made by the Republicans since the previous election is noted, it can only mean that there is some kind of revolution going on, electorally speaking.

The formula applies straight across the board—in New York City's mayoralty contest, in New Jersey, in Connecticut, in Ohio, in Kentucky and in Pennsylvania. Everywhere the Republicans made marked gains over their previous vote and narrowed the margin between the two parties. This could mean they will make big gains next year in the Congressional elections. The figures in this week's elections tell the story of a Republican upsurge in voting and a corresponding downward trend for the Democrats.

Estranged Mate Held in Death Of Woman, 40

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Chmiel, 40, was wounded fatally Wednesday night in a shooting after a two hour argument with her estranged husband, police said.

Police arrested Anthony Chmiel, 40, as he stood by his wife's body in a passageway near her home. He was holding a 12 gauge shotgun when police arrived, they said.

Details of the dispute were not immediately learned, but police said the couple had been estranged for nearly two years.

The Chmiel children, Rosemary, 14, and Gerald 12, were in the mother's upstairs apartment when the shooting occurred, neighbors told investigators.

Chmiel was held on an open charge pending further investigation.

2 Lines Discuss Railroad Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads are embarking on negotiations aimed at a merger to form the world's biggest railroad. Directors of the rival lines reached the decision Wednesday and appointed a committee of their members to get the talks under way immediately.

James M. Symes, Pennsylvania chairman, and Albert E. Perman, Central president, said a concrete proposal to combine the lines will be formed "as rapidly as possible." It will be presented promptly to the Interstate Commerce Commission, they added.

The negotiations appeared headed into an obstacle-studded course. Objections on antitrust grounds seemed likely. A previous attempt to bring the two railroads together founded in January 1959.

Orchard Drive, south of Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. William Decker accompanied Mrs. Charles Hageman of Poughkeepsie to Massachusetts Sunday, where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris and family of Pennsylvania were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Hallock Harris here. Robert Harris was a former resident of Clintondale.

Sterling, who has been missing since Monday, was believed to have drowned.

His clothing, with some skin-diving gear, was found on a river bank.

Students at Tulane said Sterling went to the river Monday to pick up skindiving equipment he had left the previous day.

Ike Won't Dominate

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will play an active but not dominant role in Pennsylvania's 1962 gubernatorial and senatorial campaigns, says Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom.

The GOP leader said Eisenhower assured him at a meeting in Gettysburg Wednesday that he will not attempt to dictate the choice of the party's candidates.

Mayor Removes Dent

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Mayor Victor Schiro's chauffeur returned from a repair shop with an estimate of $22 for straightening a dented hubcap on the mayor's official car.

"No soap," said the mayor. He got a hammer and pounded out the dent himself.

900-Pound Man Dies

PRATTVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Martin Levy, a former carnival performer weighing about 900 pounds, died Wednesday at his trailer-park home. He was 56.

Levy's agent, Walter L. Womous of nearby Montgomery, said Levy was born in Boston, Mass., and had been in show business most of his life.

Matter of Fact

The Halloween trick-or-treaters may not know it, but they're imitating an old Indian custom. The Sioux Indians awarded a fierce-looking mask to a boy who'd proven he wasn't afraid of thunder. The young brave promptly tacked on his false face and searched for relatives to scare. "Terrified," secretly amused oldsters bribed the brave with gifts to leave them in peace.

"Quality Is Remembered Long After Price Is Forgotten"

Firemen Contain Blaze in Canyon; $20 Million Loss

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Men and machines massed today for another assault on the twin blazes in the Santa Monica Mountains, the worst fire disaster in Southern California history.

Firemen controlled flames in exclusive Bel-Air and environs Wednesday night. The fire in nearby Topanga Canyon was contained early today. Authorities reported favorable wind and humidity.

456 Homes Destroyed

Official damage estimates: 456 homes destroyed (by actual count), all but nine in the Bel-Air area; 14,150 acres of watershed ruined; property damage perhaps in excess of $20 million.

Insurance officials estimated total insured losses may run as high as $24 million.

The situation today: Topanga Canyon, 8,900 acres charred, 250 men and 60 vehicles on the fire lines; Bel-Air-Brentwood: 5,750 acres scorched; 150 men, 20 vehicles. No immediate danger to the nearby seashore community of Pacific Palisades, although the two fires are only a half-mile apart at their nearest point.

150 Firemen Hurt

There have been no deaths reported during the four-day holocaust. At least 150 firemen have been injured, none seriously. The fires have destroyed many homes in the $100,000-and-up class in the service colony known as the Hollywood Hills section. Thousands of persons fled from homes and schools.

In the movie colony, flames destroyed the homes of Burt Lancaster, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Joe E. Brown, Joan Fontaine, producer Walter Wanger and composer Lukas Foss. Among the evacuees: former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who returned Tuesday to his rented home in Brentwood.

Graveyard of Mansions

Flames and smoke from the mountains still were visible for miles. Associated Press reported Charles Maher, who surveyed the damage in the Bel-Air section, described the scene: "It looked like a vast graveyard of mansions. In many places all that remained were chimneys, standing like smoking tombstones over piles of ashes."

Cause of the outbreak has not been determined. The blazes began Monday near the crest of the Santa Monica range—extending west to the sea from Hollywood—and swept into heavily populated areas north of Sunset Boulevard.

Chichester

CHICHESTER—Mr. and Mrs. James Van Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Van Wagner spent Saturday afternoon in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clark are the parents of a daughter, Kim Sue, born Nov. 2, at the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ostrander and Miss Cora Robinson attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Eva Miner in Greene Saturday.

Mrs. Susan Morris and daughter Arwilda have returned to their home here for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conner visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cole in Branch Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas Sullivan who has been spending some time with her daughter in Long Island, has left to spend the winter in Florida.

At the meeting the possibility of erecting an addition to the town garage was also discussed. Specifications for a steel building erected on a concrete floor have been received but to date no price for the completed work is available. It is proposed to erect a building 40 by 60 feet. Inquiry as to costs will be made and it is expected something definite will be available at the next town board meeting.

The town has just taken title to a parcel of land, about two-thirds of an acre, at the rear of the Highway Building from the property of Mrs. Dennis. This land adjoins the present town property and will be used to store stone, gravel and other materials.

A reply was received by the town board from the State Department of Public Works Poughkeepsie office in regard to the poor condition of Routes 209, 9-W and 199, in the town where construction is underway. Complaints had been registered by the Town Board over the existing conditions where the roads are rough, full of holes and covered with loose gravel and stone. The State had been requested to remedy this condition before winter. The State reported the condition would be attended to.

A report was also received from the Albany office of the State Superintendent of Highways in regard to lights at the Thruway intersection and the traffic circle on Route 28. A request that lighting be installed as a safety measure has been made by the town of Ulster and also by the city of Kingston.

All State Routes

A previous report had stated that if the town desires lighting it must be at town charge.

Attention was called to the fact none of the roads at the intersection were town roads, that all were state routes.

In the communication now received from the state it is contended that from studies and surveys made in New York State and in other states, lighting of this type of intersection does not lower the safety measure, but rather inclines to increase the safety hazards.

SYRIAN SITUATION—One of the most ancient and one of the newest nations in the world is Syria, which has broken its three-year union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic. Newsmap profiles this strategic Middle Eastern land. Syria's 72,234 square miles—slightly larger than Missouri—support a population of about 4.3 million. Poor in mineral resources, 34 per cent of the land is cultivated with a variety of crops (cotton, wheat, tobacco, fruits) and 17 per cent is pasture land. Right of way leases for oil pipelines from Iraq provide a substantial part of country's income.

Ulster Town . . .

380.36 of which $47,380.36 will be raised by direct taxation. This is $6,852.38 less than last year. This is the largest expenditure in special district costs. Other special district costs are about identical including East Kingston Fire District $4,499; Eddyville Fire Protection District $1,500; Lake Katrine-Glenore Protection District $2,000; East Kingston Light District $1,400; Ulster Fire District No. 1 (Spring Lake), $7,936; Ulster Hose No. 5, $7,788.19; Ulster-Ontario Protection District, $1,600; Mr. Marion-Ruby Protective District, a pro-rated district in which the 1961 share of Ulster was $2,648.81.

Banyo Praises Board

"I am happy, with the assistance of the town board, that we have been able again to lower the cost of town government for the people of the town and feel we can give the people all necessary services," Supervisor Banyo commented.

Fire Company Names Winners In Poster Art

Winners in the annual fire poster contest in the Woodstock school were announced at the November meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1.

The winners were: sixth grade, Karen Steinlauf and Richard Perlman; fifth grade, Deborah Allen, Tommy Fogg; fourth grade, Penny Wiltz, Ben Johnson; third grade, Linda Moseman; second grade, Diane Connick, Timothy Duffy; first grade, Susan Harris, Edmund Tomaselli; kindergarten, Wendy Roman, Patti Wilkinson, Glenn Ketcham, Robin Hunter.

The first session of the fire school was held on Nov. 1, it was announced.

Plans were announced for the annual fire company dance on Nov. 25 at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club. Music will be furnished by Bill Dillon and his orchestra. A walkie-talkie has been added to the company equipment to enable the fire chief to keep in touch with the men at a fire.

In the absence of Fire Chief George Haythorne, who was out of town, Deputy Chief Milton Combs directed operations at the brush fire on Eastman Lane. He was commended by the company for doing an excellent job and stopping the fire just as it was reaching a house and barn.

About False Alarms

After announcing that there were three calls during the month of October (one false alarm, one brush fire and one car fire), Chief Haythorne made a strong plea against false alarm pullers.

"If the persons who send them in would only stop to think what harm is being done, perhaps we would have none of them," said the chief. "While the company may be out answering the false alarm, a real fire or emergency may develop and valuable time will be lost getting in touch with the men to take care of the real fire or emergency."

The fire chief pointed out that statistics show that many a fireman has lost his life and apparatus has been damaged while answering false alarms. "It is bad enough to have to take chances for real emergencies, without risking men and equipment chasing false alarms."

Gilbert Glass and Roger E. Goodrich were elected members of the company.

The meeting was adjourned with a minute of silent prayer out of respect to the memory of the late life member, George Braendly.

Children Make Fine Showing in UNICEF Program

A total of $224.99 was collected by more than 250 children in the Woodstock school who took part in the annual Halloween "Trick or Treat" program for the Children's Fund of UNICEF.

There were also forty-one children of the Overlook Methodist Church who took part in the UNICEF collection and although their returns have not been completely tabulated, it is expected they will add about forty dollars more.

Mrs. Helen Goodrich Buttrick, in announcing the totals, said: "Those of us who had happy children visit us on Halloween were deeply thankful that our children are safe and happy and able to share with other children, unknown to them, sick and hungry, who so badly need the pennies they collected. We dedicated ourselves anew to the grave tasks that lie ahead of making the world safe for all the children of the world. And we understood, as never before, the urgency of keeping strong the United Nations for the many great tasks before it that Peace may finally come to the world."

"Children like to share in grownup responsibilities. And this project, particularly their own, gives them dignity and achievement, and equality with grownups, and helps them grow in stature to face later the problems they must face."

Byman Concert Stirs Audience And Critic, Too

An experiment in musical education was launched most successfully last week, when Isabelle Byman, pianist, presented a meticulously chosen program for students, faculty and visiting listeners at Onteora Central School.

After a crisp, brief but warm introduction by Mrs. Bernice St. Pierre, chairman of the P-TA Cultural Arts, Mrs. Byman appeared on stage in a very personable, but authoritative way won the interest and attention of an audience whose range in age presents a very real challenge. It commands intelligence, intuition and a very keen sense of "justesse" . . . a term which is understood by performers who have learned to achieve that balance in presenting a program by neither "playing it down," nor by patronization of the audience. This balance Mrs. Byman achieved very well, and the ease with which she went about it attests to a great amount of forethought and work.

Mrs. Byman's remarks upon the relationship between composer, performer and audience were clearly expressed. Then by demonstrating the difference in the major and minor scales, and playing fragments which illustrated their use it was made evident that they are comparable in a way to the alphabet and its use in constructing literal ideas.

The sequence in the program is given in the order presented: 1. Classical Music, a movement from Haydn's Sonata in D Major; 2. Romantic Music, Waltz in C Sharp minor by Chopin; 3. Impressionism, "Fireworks," a brilliant and evocative piece by Claude Debussy; 4. Legend, by Isaac Albeniz, programmed as an "Imitation of a Guitar"; 5. The Little White Donkey (humor in music) by the Frenchman Ibert; and 15th Hungarian Rhapsody by Franz Liszt. This closing piece programmed as "Nationalism in Music" makes great demands upon the technical resources of the performer. Here Liszt builds up a very taxing argument for his use of the Racczy March, the Hungarian national march of once upon a time in Hungary.

Throughout the program there was no doubt that the audience relished it. The applause was hearty and exuberant. Mrs. Byman deserved this and much more. To this listener her articulation indicates that Mrs. Byman is an artist of stature and that she will continue to grow. I am convinced that she has all that it takes. And we shall be the better and richer for it. Brava, Isabelle Byman! More of the same please. . . . FRANK MELE.

Understanding Of Prayer Is Needed by People

Fundamentals to the successful handling of today's challenges is an understanding of the nature of effective prayer, Howard H. Irwin of San Bernardino, Calif., said in an address in Woodstock.

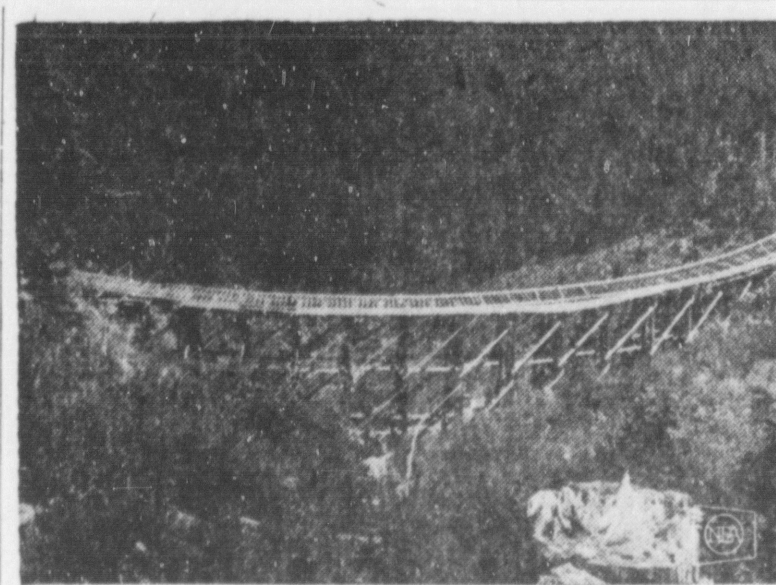

Results of the prayer and spiritual understanding will be more widely seen in the world as individuals fulfill more faithfully their spiritual obligations, Irwin said.

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ Scientists in the church edifice on Tinker Street. His subject was "Christian Science and the Healing Prayer of Faith." Martin Cavanaugh of Woodstock introduced the speaker.

"The challenges of today's world," Irwin said, "outline in crystal-like clarity the Christian's obligations to mankind. Only by spiritualization of individual thought can these obligations be met."

Through scientific prayer the spiritual understanding, which is needed so imperatively, is achieved, he said, adding that this understanding is expressed in everyday living in better health and in happier lives.

"In the Bible record," Irwin declared, "Christ Jesus and his immediate followers had much to say about prayer. In the epistle of James (5:14, 15) we find the question: 'Is any sick among you?' Then this clear counsel is given: 'let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord. And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he has committed sins, they shall be forgiven him."

He added that the "apostle's promise, which he makes with such conviction, is actually a statement of ever-operative, divine law."

Commenting on the nature of the healing power of faith, Irwin quoted the following from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p.1): "The prayer that reformed the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed love."

He stressed that the "absolute faith" which is vital to divine healing is the result of spiritual understanding of God and of man—not mere blind faith based on a belief in God.

OCS Marching Band Stirs Up Great Interest

The crack Onteora Central High School marching band which terminates its 1961 season Saturday at Liberty has drawn high praise from everyone who has seen them in action this season.

Traveling with the team for all home games at Kingston's Dietz Stadium, as well as those on the road, the magnificent musical organization, under the direction of Harry Simon, has won the admiration of all who have witnessed the band with color guard and twirlers stepping from one intricate formation to another. The band regularly presents a pregame and half-time show that compares favorably to any show that might be viewed on the nation's campus gridirons.

Mrs. Barbara Jordan, of the Onteora faculty, has been highly commended for the entire program which she wrote and directed. Mrs. Jordan, who is the advisor for the cheerleading squad as well as the instructor for twirling and members of the color guard has added a valuable wealth of talent to the already musically acclaimed band at Onteora. In New York State School Music Association Competition, the Onteora band has regularly walked off with the highest rating given.

From the tips of the grey plumes in their caps, over the smart scarlet and grey uniforms, down to the sparkling white shoes, the Onteora marching band is one to be seen and heard to be missed. The color guard, led by Miss Carol Stahl, a senior at Onteora, will be seen stepping smartly with the band at the final game of the season: Onteora vs. Liberty at Liberty, November 11, 1961, at 2 p. m.

Woodstock Art Week Opens November 18

The week of Nov. 18 through Nov. 26 has been designated as Woodstock Art Week by Supervisor Abram F. Molyneux. It is being organized by the Woodstock Exhibitions Associates, an outgrowth of the group who have arranged for the exhibitions at the Woodstock post office during the past year.

Like "American Art Work" it will feature paintings in store windows and other public buildings. The enthusiasm with which the idea is being received indicates that this will be a truly community enterprise.

Any Woodstock artist interested in exhibiting his or her work is asked to write Woodstock Art Week, General Delivery, Woodstock post office.

Reformed Church News and Notes

Sunday School meets in regular session starting at 9:30 a. m. Sunday, Nov. 12, at the Woodstock Reformed Church. Children two years of age and over are invited to attend classes. There is also a class for adults taught by the pastor.

Morning worship is scheduled at 11 a. m. The sermon title this week is "God's Laborers in God's Harvest." Visitors are welcomed to the services, and if they desire, to use the church nursery facilities. In the afternoon teams of canvassers will call on those members and friends who have not as yet made their pledge for the next fiscal year.

At 7:30 p. m., the Senior Christian Endeavor Society meets. Pastor Olson will lecture on another of Christ's parables. All teenagers are urged to attend.

Sunday school teachers will meet on Monday, Nov. 13, at 8 p. m.

Christian Science Theme: Immortals

The indestructible relationship of God and man will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Immortals and Immortals" at Woodstock.

These words of Paul will be included in the readings from the Bible: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Rom. 8).

A correlative citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator" (p. 491).

Plastic Molding Is Discussed at Engineers Parley

More than 40 engineers from Vari-Fab, IBM, Rotron, WGB, Graphic Techniques and Hercules Powder attended the monthly meeting of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers at the Casablanca Wednesday night.

The topic presented by Henry S. Byrne of E. I. duPont Nemours and Company was "Plastic Injection Molding."

In five major plastics discussed were Delrin, Zytel, nylon, lucite and teflon.

The local engineers learned that the injection mold process requires a production of 20,000 pieces per year to prove practical. Cost comparisons of plastic versus small conventional materials were discussed. Generally speaking the cost of material in plastic parts represents only 58 per cent of the total cost of a plastic part, Byrne said.

Numerous samples of injection molded parts along with their engineering history were shown, including Ford tail light lens; Valiant dashboard; Gulligan water mixing valves; Miller-Falls one quarter inch drill housing; Chevrolet emergency brake pulley and Remington Arms gunstock.

Byrne, a chemical engineering graduate, answered over three dozen questions from the floor for the benefit of the group.

Financial and Commercial

By ED MORSE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed early this afternoon after four straight sessions of advance. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .20 at 264.60 with industrials off .10, rails up .50 and utilities up .30.

With a few exceptions, gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

The market was higher in early trading which was heavy. Profits were being taken from the start, however, and this process became more prevalent.

Analysts saw the performance as a logical breathing spell after Wednesday's impressive rally, the broadest in history and on the greatest volume since last April.

General Motors, which sparked Wednesday's upsurge, was ex-dividend and off a fraction while other motors took similar losses.

Steels, aircrafts, tobaccos, building materials, chemicals, nonferrous metals and oils were mixed on balance. Some electronics made gains.

International Business Machines, up more than 7, continued to climb. Unimproved Oil Products picked up about 2.

Among the steels, Youngstown Sheet rose more than a point.

Losses of around a point were taken by Texaco, Liggett & Myers, Chrysler and Eastman Kodak.

Hershey Chocolate fell about 13 points as hopes of a stock split were disappointed.

Merger talks brought early buying to Pennsylvania Railroad but it canceled most of its fractional gain while its preferred partner, New York Central, lost a fraction.

Corporate bonds advanced. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company members of the New York Stock Exchange, 62 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 52 Main Street, Matthew F. Hasbrouck, Jr., manager.

office, to give you a more efficient municipal government—a government that will create an atmosphere of growth and opportunity in our city.

Promises to Serve All

"I promise this also: I will be the mayor of all the people of this city no matter what political party, economic status, religion or race. Your needs will be served, and your interests will be protected.

"And now for the people who have stood so loyally beside me in this campaign, and who have fought so hard for the principles in which I believe:

"My wife and daughters, my friends, and the people who have worked so hard in my behalf. Without you we would not be victorious. This I know, and for this I am deeply grateful.

"I will not let you down. Together we will turn our promises into accomplishments, just as we have achieved our goal in this election campaign."

Radel Concedes, Shakes Hands

Mayor Radel's statement:

"At 3:10 p. m. Wednesday in the Board of Elections office, on John Street, at the completion of the official canvass of all voting machines in the City of Kingston, Mayor Edwin F. Radel extended his hand in congratulations to Mayor-Elect John J. Schwenk.

"Mayor Radel conceded to his opponent when the official canvass totals corresponded generally with the unofficial figures released last evening.

"All machines were found to be in order and an official tabulation by the Board of Elections of all machines, absentee and war ballots will be made before official figures are released.

Sees 99 Votes

"Mayor Radel said, however, that his own tabulations on the trip through the polling places and including absentee and war ballots would indicate that the Schwenk plurality approached 99 votes.

"I have had a very busy, but enjoyable four years as mayor of Kingston, Radel said, and I shall treasure the memories and the many friends I have gained during these two terms in the City's highest office.

"My wife, Bernice, and I have thoroughly enjoyed the associations and social functions which are an important part of the job, and of course the many, many evening meetings and trips have prompted my wife to say, 'At last you will be home by me.'

"Mayor Radel said he thanked sincerely the many workers who expended great efforts in his behalf, and while disappointed by his own defeat and that of his dear friend, Judge Aaron E. Klein, he is extremely overjoyed that his personal associate through these past four busy years, Harold L. Kaye has been re-elected to the position of Alderman-at-large.

Pays Tribute to Kaye

"Harold Kaye has fulfilled the duties of that post in a most commendable fashion.

"Having served under several aldermen-at-large while I was mayor, I can say that this position has never been as capably executed in recent years as by the present incumbent.

"To him and to the new Common Council, over whom he shall preside, I wish the best of success and a continuation of the progressive cooperation attitude that has existed these past four years.

"I am extremely proud that I have conducted my campaign on a factual, truthful and high level as were the six successful campaigns that permitted me to serve as Third Ward Alderman and as mayor.

"During my terms of office, I have given my maximum energies, efforts and talents to do the very best possible job for the entire City. In my heart, I feel that I have succeeded in doing just that and appreciate the opportunity of having served our fine City.

Gratitude From Wilson

Wilson's statement:

"The people of Ulster County have overwhelmingly voted their confidence in the policies of our Republican Party. We presented the issues to the public fairly and intelligently. We accept it with sober responsibility to continue its clear mandate to continue our sound fiscal principles coupled with consideration for personal human rights and welfare.

"I want to pay special tribute to our party candidates, successful and unsuccessful, who carried our colors and helped to restore Republican administration in so many towns and in the City of Kingston. Special congratulations are extended to John J. Schwenk for his persistent, inspired fight to bring to reality his program for the welfare of Kingston. I also wish to thank the Republican Committeemen, officials, chairmen, the Republican Club, the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, the Young Republican Club and all of the Republican workers for their tremendous efforts and service.

"I am gratified with the acceptance of the Community College plan and am confident that the Board of Supervisors, under the Republican majority, will expeditiously implement the plan."

Will Give Best to People

St. John's statement:

"I am extremely gratified by the vote of confidence that the people have placed in the Republican Party and its candidate John J. Schwenk. Our only pledge is that we will give to the people the best government possible."

To Work for Progress

Kaye's statement: "I appreciate the vote of confidence which the voters of Kingston bestowed upon me on election day. The victory was not entirely a happy one with the defeat of Mayor Edwin F. Radel with whom I have worked for the at Wilkes-Barre-Scranton airport at Avoca, Pa., and 17 at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport.

The Federal Aviation Agency said the plane developed engine trouble about 10 miles west of Richmond and headed for Byrd Field, just east of the city limits, for an emergency landing.

Witnesses at the airport said it first flew over the field at an altitude of only 700 to 800 feet and seemed to be operating on only two engines — both on the same side of the plane.

Several Explosions

It made one stab at a runway but, the FAA said, did not land because of trouble with its landing gear. It circled away to the south and then, on the return approach, crashed into the woods, moving down trees as it headed for the ravine. The time was 3:24 p.m.

There were several explosions — some witnesses said as few as three, others as many as 15 — and great walls of flame leaped upward.

A. P. Webb, a customer service agent for Eastern Air Lines, said he watched from an airport ramp as the Constellation came down.

"It started to settle into the trees southeast of the field, very slowly, as if it were stalling. I saw it disappear behind the trees.

"Suddenly the horizon lit up. After the pinkish glow died down, a great ball of flames came up."

J. F. Green, a member of the Eastover Garden Fire Department—one of the first rescue units to reach the scene—said "the woods were lit up" by the flames.

Fuselage Aflame "I walked back into the woods. When I got near the plane, I saw two crew members wandering around (Conway and Poythress). We were about 50 yards from the plane when someone went up and brought them out of the woods. The whole fuselage was on fire. I could see people in the plane, but no one was screaming."

So difficult was the terrain at the crash site that the first piece of fire equipment could not reach the wreckage until 10:45 p.m., more than an hour after the crash. One pumper truck got stuck.

A clear path through the woods wasn't carved out until armored cars of the Virginia National Guard's 183rd Reconnaissance Squadron slugged their way through the underbrush and mud.

Thousands of curiosity seekers walked to the scene, hampering rescue work. Police roped them off from the area and eventually used fierce police dogs to hold back the throng.

Long Traffic Jam

On heavily traveled U. S. 60, nearest major highway, hundreds of cars produced a tremendous traffic jam which held up ambulances rushing to the crash site. Police needed hours to unsmash the traffic jam blocking the highway.

State Police at first identified the plane, erroneously as an Eastern Air Lines Constellation. The Imperial Airlines has headquarters in Miami and makes unscheduled flights five or six times weekly carrying recruits to Army stations.

Imperial Airlines was known as Regina Airlines in 1953, when one of its planes crashed near California, Calif., killing two crew members and 19 soldiers en route to McChord Air Force Base.

Conway, suffering from smoke inhalation and shock, was able to give only a brief statement before officials at Medical College of Virginia Hospital barred interviews with him. Reporters were not allowed to talk to Poythress after the crash.

Asked if he attempted to land the plane here, Conway replied: "Yes, I wouldn't want to add anything to it."

Asked if he had circled the field for a landing, he said "yes."

Son of Newburgh Mayor Loses Job

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—The son of the mayor, who with his father figured in an altercation with City Manager Joseph Mitchell after Tuesday's election, has received notification his employment with the city will end Nov. 22.

The son, William S. Ryan, is employed in the maintenance section of the meter department.

Mitchell sent Ryan his notice Wednesday. No mention was made of the election night incident.

Mitchell said the employment was being terminated because Ryan's job was a temporary one and had already gone beyond the time intended.

The flareup election night occurred after Mitchell hailed a Republican victory as an endorsement of the city's controversial welfare program which he fathered and Mayor William D. Ryan opposes.

City Judge Charles J. Roskoski, a re-elected Republican, said both the mayor and his son rushed out and attempted to strike Mitchell as the city manager drove with other jubilant Republicans past Democratic headquarters.

The clash between the city manager and young Ryan was their second. Earlier this year they had words when Ryan's pay was docked because he failed to report for work on a specified date after being off for an injury. Mitchell had a police guard for a time after that.

Air Force Posts Are Available For Graduates

If you are a graduate, or within 230 days of graduating from a regionally accredited college or university, the Air Force is now in a position to offer an unprecedented opportunity to fill an essential position and become a capable leader in today's complex technological age, if you can qualify, T/Sgt. Richard Lambert said today.

The Air Force has recently established an Officer Training School Program. Its aim is to assure the Air Force of officers who are college graduates and who possess the skills and specialties needed to meet Space Age requirements.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The face would be familiar to every film fan over 35.

Neil Hamilton, still as slimly handsome, still with the same hairline as when he acted the suave leading man in silent films and talkies was playing a minor role in a TV show, "Follow the Sun." He also had a story.

Quite a Story

"I've written my tale of rags-to-riches and back to rags and some day I may get it published. It's quite a story."

"I had it very good in this town. Actually I started in 1918, at Fort Lee, N. J., when it was the center of the film industry. I worked extra four years until D. W. Griffith. God rest his soul, gave me a break."

There followed 15 years of top success. Hamilton made 72 pictures in six years and his films included "Beau Geste," "One Sunday Afternoon," "When Strangers May Kiss" (opposite Norma Shearer), "What Price Hollywood?" (opposite Constance Bennett), and the first two big Tarzan films.

But in the mid-30s his career started to slide. He had lost a bundle in the stock market and had investments in the New York World Fair.

In 1941 he found no jobs as an actor so he became an agent's assistant at $50 a week.

"I had made a million in the film business," he recalled. "We had owned a house in Brentwood with five servants and now we were living in a $60-a-month apartment."

Ready to Take Life

"I was drinking and I was at my lowest ebb. One night I was driving toward the hills and I was determined to kill myself. I knew a place where I wouldn't be found for years and the insurance would help my wife and daughter."

But he next found himself on a man needs."

the steps of the club for Catholic students at UCLA. Hamilton recited his woes to an old friend, a priest, who urged him to try the power of prayer.

The actor agreed to try. Within nine days he had an offer for four weeks of film work at $25 a week. The director loaned him $500 to buy a new wardrobe.

Since that time he has worked fairly steadily in stage plays and live TV, and lately has played most of the filmed TV shows; he has been on Perry Mason five times.

At 62, he has no illusions, no regrets. He makes a comfortable living, doing two or three TV series a month. He has had the same wife for 39 years.

"But most of all, I have my faith," he remarked. "That's all that counts."

But he next found himself on a man needs."

Guilty Plea Is Entered in Fatal Route 17 Crash

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP)—Thomas Hayden, 29, of Nyack, has pleaded guilty to an indictment for criminal negligence in a three-car crash in which a man was killed.

Hayden could be sentenced to up to five years in prison. County Judge Lawrence Cooke, who received the plea Wednesday in Sullivan County court, set sentencing for Nov. 20.

Hayden, who allegedly was driving on a wrong lane of Route 17, was being chased by a state trooper at high speed when the accident occurred July 1 near Monticello. Nathan Stanton, 45, of Brooklyn, who was in one of the other cars in the collision, was killed.

Halcott in GOP Column for 1st Since '31 Year

The little town of Halcott went Republican for the first time in 30 years to highlight election day in Greene County. The victory of Ward G. Reynolds, Republican, gives that party a 10 to 4 edge in the Board of Supervisors. Reynolds defeated Democrat Fuller Van Valkenburgh 80-58.

Another feature in Greene County was a tie vote between Republican James Ballivant and Democrat Guy Mulbury for the office of councilman in the town of Durham. The vote was 463-463 with 26 void machine ballots and 20 void write-in ballots. The County Board of Elections said incumbent Democrat Emil Busch will remain in office until a canvass is completed and if that still shows a tie he will remain in office until the next general election.

Full Appraisal Uncertain Of JFK's Colorless Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Undramatic, unsensational and, very often, uncolorful. Those are the three most consistent characteristics of President Kennedy's performance in 18 news conferences.

In other words, he operates in a low key, very often understating rather than overstating.

Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower sometimes burst into anger, sometimes rocked the house with laughter. Kennedy doesn't get angry and his humor is generally sly or subtle.

Insight From Start

Is this deliberate policy—a thought-out technique—or is it just Kennedy? It's so consistent it's probably just Kennedy himself.

He gave an early insight into all this—although it wasn't realized at the time—at his very first presidential news conference, six days after becoming chief executive last January.

He started it by saying he had several announcements. The first was a statement about the resumption of nuclear test ban talks with the Russians at Geneva. Then he said this country would step up its famine relief to the Congo.

He reserved for last the announcement—and it made headlines later—that the Russians had released two American fliers whose RB47 bomber had been shot down by the Russians six months before.

Wednesday he had a chance to make some political hay, with broad swipes at the Republicans, when asked for comment on some Democratic victories in Tuesday's elections. He played this low-key, too, by not magnifying their importance.

He has done the same in the most critical foreign problems when, with very few exceptions, he has been nonbelligerent even though his opposite number, Premier Khrushchev, was tearing up the yard with threats and thundering.

Effect Is Studied

All this raises two questions: 1. What will be the long-range effect on the American people's attitude to a President who plays it cool and doesn't make their pulse beat faster once in a while except for some of the literary touches he puts into his speeches?

2. What will be the effect overseas, among Allies and in the Communist world which, specifically in the case of Khrushchev, has been needing him and giving him abundant provocation for anger?

As for question No. 1: He's been doing all right so far from a personal standpoint. He got himself elected President and as of now he stands extremely high in the popularity polls. Whether this lasts is something else.

As for question No. 2: It should be easy for people overseas, particularly the Communist world, to look upon his restraint in the Khrushchev's threats and bomb-rattling as a mark of weakness or timidity.

Easy to Understand

Even if the nature of the man himself were not the reason, it would be easy to understand why Kennedy has so quietly handled the Berlin crisis created by Khrushchev. The Allies themselves have not agreed on what to do.

Nevertheless, Kennedy's reticence with Khrushchev may have borne good fruit.

Khrushchev gives the impression of a man who is anxious to cover up some inner uncertainty by over-aggressiveness. At the rate he was going it would have been easy for him to talk himself into a war.

If Kennedy had tried to outdo Khrushchev in a shouting match the Russian might have been rendered so self-conscious that, feeling challenged to make good on his threats, he'd think he had to.

Nik Milder Now

Kennedy forced no such challenge on him. Now Khrushchev is making milder sounds. A reasonable settlement may now be possible but would have been rendered impossible if Kennedy had tried to out-Khrushchev Khrushchev.

Kennedy, instead of slamming the door on reason, left it open. Whether Khrushchev walks in—or whether he thinks Kennedy's reticence is timidity and therefore something to be used and abused—remains for the future.

But so does any valid and final appraisal of whether Kennedy's sometimes uncolorful handling of the presidency is better or worse than a more vibrant method.

Speno, Educators at Odds Again

Lawyer Riding Two Daughters To School Sparks New Trouble

Editor's: School-bus transportation has been a subject of controversy locally and statewide in recent years and is likely to remain so. This is the first in a two-part series bringing you the background of the issue and the news it will be making.

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Edward J. Speno and the State Education Department are at odds again and the issue is the same—transportation for school pupils.

This latest dispute was sparked by Walter Wessendorf Jr., the lawyer who contracted with the Guildford Central School District, near Albany, to transport his two daughters to a private school in Albany in the family's two Cadillacs.

Gets $1,300 a Year

For this service, the district is paying Wessendorf $1,300 a year in taxpayers' money. That's approximately the tuition at a good private college.

It was all legal and, some say, slightly outrageous.

Speno says the State Education Department and the school districts are handling transportation inadequately. He wants to give jurisdiction over transportation to the Public Service commission, which regulates utilities and transportation companies.

Legislation to this effect will be introduced in the 1962 Legislature, he says.

The Wessendorf contract served to highlight the fact that school transportation gradually has become much more complex and costly.

Three Big Factors

The spread of suburbia, the creation of central school districts and the growth of Roman Catholic parochial schools are the three significant factors in the school-bus story and the controversy in which it is immersed today.

Public schools began providing transportation prior to 1938. In 1938, the voters approved an amendment to the constitution to relax the prohibition against use of public funds for religious schools and permit publicly supported transportation to all schools.

The demand for this change apparently came mostly from the Catholics, who were building more and more schools at their own expense.

The next year, the Legislature established a formula under which the state would reimburse school districts for 50 per cent of the expense of transportation.

In 1942, a new formula was established under which the state was to pay the cost of transportation to central school districts and partial cost to union free and common school districts. City school districts as a rule do not have

Audubon Speaker To Talk Nov. 14 At Bethany Hall

The "Friends of the Senate House" are sponsoring the Audubon Screen Tour, featuring William A. Anderson, National Audubon Society speaker, at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church, Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 8 p. m.

Anderson will augment his discussion with a color film. Speaking on "Designs for Survival," he will discuss the survival story and tell how animals are adapted to cope with the environmental factors against which they must successfully compete in order for their kind to survive.

For 10 years Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have done research, written the scripts, edited and sound tracked 16 class-room films. They have also supplied sequences for three Walt Disney's Oscar-winning nature films and a number of Disneyland television productions.

The film and lecture is of particular interest to students and children, as well as adults. The public is invited and there is a special admission price for school children, including refreshments.

Increases Mileage

Amid considerable controversy, the bill was passed and signed by Gov. Rockefeller. It increased the maximum required distance from eight to ten miles and made it easier for parents to demand transportation to parochial or other private schools. The law became effective this school year.

Then came Wessendorf. The fact that Wessendorf drove his girls in two expensive autos to a school charging a tuition that many families could not afford raised the question:

Are things getting out of hand? The State Education Department does not think so. The State School Boards Association is not sure. But Speno—a politician sensitive to public unrest—does. He says he'll have the answer.

Wagner-Posner Likely Top Team for N.Y. Democrats

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Wagner and Posner in place of DeSapio and Prendergast is a highly likely change in the leadership of the New York State Democratic party as a result of Tuesday's elections.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner's reelection to a third term after a long and bitter fight with his own party organization, as well as with Republicans, was coupled with the Rochester victory of William N. Posner.

Directed Monroe Victory

Posner, Monroe County Democratic leader, directed party strategy that enabled the Democrats to take control of the city council, long dominated by Republicans. The council elects the Rochester mayor.

While Wagner and Posner achieved victory, two other prominent Democrats came upon trying times.

Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast opposed Wagner both in the party primary and in the election.

Carmine G. DeSapio was ousted as leader of Tammany Hall in the Democratic primary in September and refused to support Wagner in the election.

The issue of changes in party leadership on the state level has been more or less dormant during the election campaign.

But Wagner now has established himself as the leading Democrat in the state and it remains for him to select an executive officer in the person of a new Democratic state chairman.

Rated Before Election

Posner's name had been high in speculation before his Rochester victory Tuesday.

Traditionally, the chairmanship has gone to an Upstate resident.

The unofficial requirement that the party chairman be a Roman Catholic could be dispensed with this time because Wagner is Catholic. Posner is Jewish.

Posner has attracted a wide following among Upstate Democratic county chairmen, largely as a result of his success in an area traditionally Republican. He resigned recently as Monroe County Democratic chairman but has remained active in party affairs.

Other possibilities for the chairmanship are Nassau County Chairman John F. English and Westchester Chairman William Luddy. But several other chairmen feel that, with Wagner in office, the state leader should not come from the metropolitan New York City area.

Defeat Hurts Crotty

Erie County Chairman Peter J. Crotty had been a leading possibility. He apparently lost any chance, however, in the defeat of his organization at the polls Tuesday.

Incumbent Buffalo Mayor Frank Sedita, backed by Crotty, lost the Democratic nomination in a primary fight, and Sedita's independent candidacy allowed a Republican to win the mayoralty on a minority vote.

Crotty's defeat has left Posner the leading possibility for state chairman if, as expected, the post goes to an Upstate party leader.

It is not certain when there will be a change in the chairmanship, however. Prendergast's present term does not expire until next June, and he thus far has resisted all attempts to force him out sooner.

Searching Adirondacks For Missing Doctor

SPECULATOR, N.Y. (AP) — Forest rangers and deputy sheriffs were set today to join a search of Adirondack wilderness for a Manhattan psychiatrist.

Dr. Douglas E. Schultz, 34, has been missing since Saturday on a deer-hunting trip.

State Police used horses to break trail into the Siamese Pond area, about 15 miles from Speculator, and set up camp Wednesday.

A helicopter from Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y., has entered the search, State Police said.

Schultz, 6-3 and 220 pounds, was flown to the pond by seaplane for the hunting trip.

Since Saturday, overnight temperatures in the area have dipped below freezing.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lamb makes one of its infrequent appearances at the top of the list of weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

Legs, roasts and chops are headlines in the Northeastern, Southeastern and Midwestern sections of the country.

One big Eastern chain is offering lamb legs at 47 cents a pound, down 16 cents from last week.

Meat currently is an economical item with supplies of beef and pork heavy.

Beef specials include roasts, steaks, ground beef and veal cuts. Bargain pork offerings include roasts, hams, chops and bacon.

Housewives with an eye on Thanksgiving Day are buying turkeys and finding them plentiful and reasonable. Frying and broiling chickens, also in abundant supply, are good buys.

Eggs and dairy products continue in good supply throughout the nation.

Fish is being widely featured and, depending on the section of the country, the specials include fillets, clams, lobsters, halibut, oysters, crab, mullet, sea trout, whiting perch and salmon.

The list of thrifty vegetables includes anise, broccoli, broccoli rabe, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, Chinese cabbage, mushrooms, Eastern onions and potatoes, radishes, spinach, yellow and winter type squash and sweet potatoes.

Good buys are artichokes, beans, beets, endive, escarole, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, green onions, lettuce, western Spanish onions and russet potatoes, parsley, peppers, green Italian squash and tomatoes.

Generous supplies of fruit will be available, especially apples, grapes, oranges and grapefruit.

Grapes, coconuts, pears, pomegranates, persimmons, oranges and grapefruit are good buys.

Jessie Allen Is Feted at Dinner By First Federal

Miss Jessie P. Allen was honored with a dinner given by the directors and staff of First Federal Savings and Loan Association Monday night at Williams Lake.

On October 23 Miss Allen completed nearly seven and a half years of service. At the time of her retirement she served as receptionist and new account clerk.

After the dinner John B. Sterley, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association reviewed Miss Allen's service to Kingston as superintendent of nurses at Kingston Hospital prior to the disastrous fire that destroyed the building. She was then prevailed upon to continue at the hospital and was active in the rebuilding operations. She was then made superintendent of the hospital, a position she held until 1949.

Miss Allen then served as secretary of the Old Dutch Church until she left to join the staff of the Home-Seekers Savings and Loan Association in June 1954.

William F. Paulus, assistant treasurer and Dewese W. DeWitt, executive vice-president presented Miss Allen with gifts in behalf of the members of the staff and members of the board of directors.

Miss Allen will leave next week for St. Petersburg, Fla., where she will make her home during the winters, returning to Kingston for the summer months.

Her position at First Federal is being filled by Mrs. Katherine Lacey.

Matter of Fact

Many baseball fans run up quite a tab at the ball park on "extras" like beer and hot dogs. A patron of an ancient Roman circus would sympathize. Admission was free—but not the "extras." Wine sellers and pastry vendors hawked their merchandise. And if the patron wanted to place a bet or discover his fortune, an obliging bookmaker or astrologer was always at hand. A "free" afternoon at the circus left the average patron's purse much lighter.

Desires Schools Get Attention Agriculture Does

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — "If this country would apply the same brainpower and money to the problems of education as it does to agriculture, there would be a bumper crop of national benefits."

So says Dean Lindley J. Stiles of the University of Wisconsin, who believes the real frontiers of education have not yet even been approached.

Stiles told the Council of Chief State School Officers Wednesday that properly supported, education can become the same kind of scientific process that farming is today.

The federal government now spends $160 million dollars a year on agricultural research, but only about $5 million on research in education, Stiles said.

He urged the state superintendents and commissioners of education, holding their annual three-day meeting here, to support a proposal that the federal government appropriate $75-million to $100-million dollars a year for educational research.

Stiles said later, in an interview, "Farmers used to farm according to the almanac, folklore, and trial and error. That is the way too many of our schools are educating youngsters today. It is high time we consider the cultivation of the mind just as important as the cultivation of the soil."

Wrong Time for South Bid

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Another young pair which is conceded an excellent chance to win the right to play for America in 1962 consists of Bill Root of New York and Andy Gabilowsky of Washington, who were on the team that won this year's Spingold Cup.

Bill's two-spade raise was eminently sound. Actually, if he had held four trumps he would have bid either three or four. So after Andy jumped to game and South doubled, Bill was right there with a quick redouble.

South's double had been one of those bids better suited to a social game of bridge than to a national championship match and when Bill redoubled, South decided to get out of his own mess. If he had run to his club suit, he would have escaped with his life, but his heart suit looked so good that he ran to five hearts. Bill doubled and opened his fourth best diamond and the massacre was on.

South ruffed and hopefully led a small club only to have

W. G. DIMMERLING

William G. Dimmerling has been appointed general manager of Kingston Cablevision, Inc., the company which is now providing television service to 3,000 families within the City of Kingston. Dimmerling, who will shortly become a permanent resident of Kingston, was formerly employed as sales manager for Enton, Inc., Bladensburg, Md., one of the pioneers in the manufacture of community antenna system equipment. He will head a staff of 13 Kingstonians who are responsible for the commercial and technical activities of the company.

Dimmerling's home town is Pottsville, Pa., where as an outstanding athlete he was active in many high school sports and later went on to play professional basketball and baseball.

In Pottsville he held positions with Pennsylvania Power and Light and was program director for radio station WPAM. Prior to his employment at Enton he was a county detective in the district attorney's office, Schuylkill County, Pa.

Dimmerling volunteered for active duty in the army in 1942 and was overseas as a lieutenant with the famous 101st Airborne Division, Paratroopers. He received several decorations including the silver star for gallantry in action. He rose to the rank of captain before his discharge in 1946. He was recalled to active duty in 1950 during the Korean conflict and was discharged in 1952. He now holds the rank of major in retired reserves.

A member of the Elks, he was exalted ruler in the Pottsville Lodge 207. He is also a member of the American Legion.

Christmas Gift Appeal Is Made By Legion Unit

Members of Town of Esopus American Legion Post 1298 Ladies auxiliary are preparing to receive gifts for patients at the Albany Veterans Hospital for Christmas.

Betty Sanford, Port Ewen, chairman of the unit rehabilitation committee of the auxiliary, noted that at present there are approximately 1,000 veterans at the VA hospital.

Gifts received by the rehabilitation chairman are sent to the hospital and placed on display in the recreation room. An open house event is held on December 3 from 2 to 4 p. m. when auxiliary members and friends may visit the hospital.

On Monday and Tuesday, December 4 and 5, the hospital veterans select gifts they would like to send to relatives or friends.

All gifts must be boxed individually but not wrapped. Wrappings may be included with cards and ribbons. The gifts must be new, attractive and useful. The committee chairman urges area residents not to send cosmetics, candy, food or breakable articles.

Vets Select Gifts
Since the gifts will be selected by veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean Conflict the committee appeals to donors to send gifts suitable for both old and young.

Anyone desiring to cooperate in this project should send them to Unit Rehabilitation chairman, Town of Esopus Post 1298, A.L.A. Port Ewen no later than November 15.

Meeting Is Set In Albany on Reapportionment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Joint Legislative Committee on Congressional Reapportionment meets today to vote final approval to a Republican plan designed to give the GOP five additional seats in the New York delegation to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Democrats will lose seven seats when the state is redistricted to reduce the overall number of New York Congressmen from 43 to 41.

A special session of the Republican-controlled Legislature, opening today, will act on the reapportionment plan Friday.

Democrats are expected to protest at length but GOP leaders were confident the measure would pass as submitted.

The redistricting plan was worked out by Republican legislative and political leaders throughout the state.

Congressional districts must be reapportioned after each federal census. The 1960 census showed New York's population growth had not kept pace with that of the nation as a whole and this state must surrender the two seats.

Democrats now hold a 22-21 majority in the delegation.

Republicans polled a minority of the vote cast for Congress last November. GOP majorities in the Legislature will set up machinery to give their party a 26-15 edge in November 1962, when representatives will be elected under the new plan for the first time.

Lax About Lacks

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—"Are you sure you had a car?" Judge Harry S. Wyckoff asked a 20-year-old motorist brought before him in Municipal Court. The young man was charged with operating an unsafe motor vehicle. Police said it lacked headlights, tail lights, emergency brakes and a horn. It also had an unconnected gearshift and loose seats, they said. The motorist pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. He indicated he would return the car to his home city by truck.

Peru Ministry Outlines Stand Against Red Tests

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The Peruvian foreign ministry has outlined that country's official condemnation of Soviet nuclear tests in a move possibly prompted by U.S. Ambassador James Loeb's open letter.

The ministry said in a communique Wednesday that Peruvian representatives to the United Nations and the Organization of American States had made clear Peru's condemnation of Soviet tests.

Loeb wrote an open letter a few days ago expressing surprise and curiosity at what he called the lack of protests by Peruvian intellectuals when the Soviet Union resumed atmospheric nuclear "Am I wrong in assuming," Loeb wrote, "that if the United States had been guilty of this action, the reaction would have been quite different? Am I not justified in asking whether the present silence does not indicate a double standard of morality?" Loeb is a publisher of the Adirondack Enterprise, a daily newspaper in Saranac Lake, N.Y.

The educator to whom the letter was addressed brushed it off as a matter beyond the scope of the ambassador's duties. Loeb said he thought the letter was probably an unprecedented action for an ambassador.

Public reaction here was both favorable and mildly reproving. The U.S. Embassy said telephone response was heavy and most callers complimented the ambassador.

Rocky Asks $100 Million

Bipartisan Approval Expected
For School Shelter Program

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's $100-million program for state aid to help schools and colleges build fallout shelters was headed for bipartisan approval in a special session of the Legislature opening today.

The Republican governor's plan to grant residents on active military duty $1.4 million in state income tax relief over the next 21 months also was on the opening-day agenda and assured of passage.

Will Shift to Politics

The atmosphere of the two-day special session will shift Friday from one of military emergency to power politics. Republicans plan to pass, over strong Democratic opposition, a congressional reapportionment plan designed to take seven seats from Democrats and give five to the GOP.

Republican leaders were confident that all three measures on the session agenda would be passed and submitted, regardless of the Democratic position, by the time the session ends late Friday.

The governor's fallout-shelter program, which is entirely voluntary, was endorsed last month by the State Defense Council, which includes legislative leaders of both parties.

Under that plan:

Public-school districts and private schools and colleges that built shelters would receive state aid at the rate of $25 for each person the shelter was designed to accommodate. The state aid would not exceed half the cost, however.

Would Designate Use

The State Civil Defense Commission would set standards for shelter construction and also would designate the manner of their use in the event of nuclear attack during out-of-school hours.

The state would expand its program for advising property owners on how to construct shelters. Also planned is a program for constructing shelters in state buildings, including units of the State University.

Neither public nor private school officials have yet given any indication of how many schools will have shelters or when they will be built.

There are 4,700 public elementary and high schools, 1,700 parochial and other private elementary and high schools, 128 private colleges and universities and 48 units in the State University.

These schools have a total enrollment and staff of 4.1 million pupils, teachers, administrative and maintenance personnel.

Period Designated

The plan for expanding servicemen's benefits would cover those on active duty between Oct. 1, 1961, and June 30, 1963, the period designated in the recent call-up of reservists.

Servicemen would be given a state-income tax exemption of $100 a month of military pay. Many servicemen do not now pay income taxes and the change would relieve many more of paying any taxes, the governor's office has reported.

In addition, the state would increase from 100 to 500 the number of new, college scholarships awarded each year to children of deceased and disabled veterans. Children of men now on duty would be eligible for them.

Teacher in Dark
About Discharge
From Air Force

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — The Air Force says Joseph R. Turk can go back to teaching Russian at Columbus, Ind. But Turk says its news to him.

The simmering issue bubbled up Wednesday at President Kennedy's news conference in Washington. The President was asked about a plea from Turk's students that the teacher be released from the Air Force.

Turk, 26, was called to active duty last week as part of the defense buildup. He is serving as an airman 2-c here with the 109th Air Transport Group. He is a clerk-typist.

Kennedy said the students' request had not come to his attention. The White House, shortly afterward, said the Air Force authorized Turk's immediate release Monday. It added that Turk would have to submit an application under regulations.

Turk told newsmen Wednesday night he had not received any notification of his possible release. Instead, he said, he applied in mid-October for deferment from recall to active duty and had been denied.

Turk's students sent a telegram to Kennedy, remembering that the President had suggested in a campaign speech at Columbus last year that they call on him for help whenever needed.

They needed help in the form of Turk, Russian instructors, they said, are hard to find these days. Kennedy, at the news conference, agreed that the problem of calling up teachers was a tough one but said it should be left to the Defense Department.

Car Rental Tax Deductions Are Noted by State

Federal income tax rules covering deductions of amounts paid for leasing of automobiles or trucks were outlined today by James A. O'Hara, district director of Internal Revenue Service.

O'Hara said the information is intended to answer continuing inquiries which apparently stem from advertisements implying that all auto leasing expenses are fully tax deductible.

Federal income tax rules on this point are quite clear, Director O'Hara said. Auto or truck lease payments are deductible only if they represent ordinary and necessary expenses of and are directly attributable to the operation of a trade or business, the agency explained.

Under no circumstances are such lease payments deductible to the extent they represent personal use by a taxpayer, such as for vacation trips or driving to and from his place of business or employment.

No deduction will be allowed for so-called lease expenses which, in fact, constitute payments toward the purchase price of autos or trucks, O'Hara said. If the lease payments are so arranged as to constitute advance rental, such payments must be duly apportioned over the entire rental period.

Protest Strike
Ends at Auburn

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — The peaceful parole-protest strike at Auburn State Prison is over.

Inmates returned to work details Wednesday, ending a two-day sitdown strike in their cells in protest of a court decision on parole procedures.

About 300 of the prison's 1,700 inmates took part in the demonstration, which was calm and orderly, prison authorities said.

Warden Robert E. Murphy, who said he sympathized with the prisoner's cause but disagreed with their methods, said he planned no action against them.

The protest was against a Court of Appeals decision last year that reversed a lower-court ruling on time off for good behavior.

The lower court held that a prisoner should be allowed automatically one-third off his sentence for good behavior.

CORE Calls Off Challenge Ride

NEW YORK (AP)—A proposed mass "freedom ride" to challenge segregated eating places in Maryland and Delaware has been canceled by the Congress of Racial Equality.

CORE had announced plans to send 1,400 riders along U.S. 40 Saturday from the Delaware Bridge to Baltimore to seek service in highway restaurants which have been refusing to serve Negroes.

James Farmer, CORE national director, said the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems informed CORE Wednesday that 35 Maryland restaurants would serve Negroes, and CORE decided to call off the demonstration. A dozen Delaware restaurants also agreed to serve Negroes, Farmer said.

But the CORE director warned other restaurants along the route to follow suit or "we shall feel free to take necessary action."

Contract Signed In Milk Tieup

NEW YORK (AP)—Union and management negotiators today settled their last differences left over from the 13-day milk strike that ended Monday night.

A new contract was signed at 3 a. m. by Irving R. Wisch, management representative, and Samuel J. Cohen, counsel for the three Teamsters union locals that struck.

The contract covers drivers and milk plant workers who serve New York City and Long Island. The agreement incorporates provisions for dividing an $11 weekly package increase.

Cohen said the two-year contract will give $6.50 more a week in cash to employees working without commissions and $4.30 extra for those working on a commission basis. Pension, vacation, and welfare provisions take up the remainder of the package. Pre-strike wages for drivers were $100.50 a week, plus commissions ranging up to $25 a week. Plant workers, who are members of the Teamsters union, received $103 to $129 a week.

Gets Time for Fine

Gordon Aldrich, 22, of Accord, charged with jacklighting deer, has been given 30 days to raise $502.50 by Justice of Peace Abram Smith of Rochester. That sum was settled by civil compromise, but he was given the time to raise the funds through agreement of his counsel and the district attorney's office. Robert Van Demark, 26, also of Accord who was arrested by Ellenville state police at the same time, paid a similar amount on Oct. 30.

Benn Uninjured In 9J Accident, 3 Others Hurt

Three persons were injured, one seriously, Tuesday when an automobile operated by Roger Benn, 19, of Clermont Avenue, Saugerties, left Route 9J in Stuyvesant, Columbia County, and overturned. It was Benn's second accident in less than two months. He was the operator of an automobile on Sept. 24 involved in a Route 9 crash in Stottville in which his brother, Frederick W. Benn, 20, of Clermont Avenue, Saugerties, was fatally injured.

Roger Benn escaped injury in the Tuesday mishap, but three men riding with him, David K. Gill, 53, of 102 Lakehurst Avenue, East Weymouth, Mass.; Charles E. Van Valkenburgh, 21, of Montrose Avenue, Saugerties and Francis M. Robel, 40, of 142 Broadway, Kingston, were taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson, according to Trooper J. J. Carroll of the Claverack Barracks who investigated.

Gill was treated for a lacerated right leg and bruised left knee and discharged. Van Valkenburgh was treated for a cut lip and a bruised left leg and also discharged. Robel was admitted for treatment of a scalp laceration and nose fracture. His condition today was reported as fair.

Trooper Carroll reported that Benn was traveling north on Route 9J in the town of Stuyvesant when he failed to negotiate a slight left curve; went off the right shoulder; swerved back onto the highway; lost control and went off the right side of the road and the automobile rolled over.

4 Rotary Clubs Hear Snyder's Fellowship Talk

Rotarians from four area clubs enjoyed a "Fellowship" dinner meeting at the Skytop Restaurant, Wednesday night. The Kingston Rotary Club was the host to clubs from Phoenixia, Saugerties and Woodstock. Dr. Milton Grover, president of the Kingston Club, presided and Augustus P. Modjeska was chairman of this special event.

The more than 100 Rotarians heard a stirring and inspiring address by the internationally known lecturer Frederic Snyder of Kingston. He stressed the importance of acquaintance and fellowship in personal relationships and in world affairs. Vivid examples were given on how major problems have been solved by mutual understanding and good will.

Special guests included the district governor of Rotary, Edward Ulrich, of Arlington and past governors, Harris E. Dexter of Poughkeepsie and Sam D. Scudder of Kingston.

Report Window Is Broken by Auto

A plate glass window and a front area of Michael's Restaurant, 51 North Front Street, were reported damaged last night when a car jumped the curb and crashed into it.

Police said the car, owned by Pablo DeGesus, of 715 Broadway, was driven by Pablo Gonzalez, 34, of 55 North Front Street. Officers William Whalen and Harry Short, who investigated, said the driver had apparently lost control as he was pulling into the curb.

The mishap was reported at 8:40 p. m., and in another reported at 8:15 p. m. Franz Schneider, 52, of 36 Howland Avenue, was reported injured in an accident while riding a bicycle near 409 Washington Avenue.

Schneider, the report said, became confused or startled in an apparent near collision with an automobile, and fell as the bicycle struck the curb. He reported head and leg injuries.

Builder Still Sold on Plan

$30 Shelter Another Coast Blaze Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Bel-Air fire was a costly test for a $30 fallout shelter but its builder, one of the world's experts on nuclear survival, is more sold than ever on it.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, winner of the 1960 Nobel Prize for his discovery of the carbon 14 "atomic clock," has little else left at his home—or pile of rubble—at 1016 N. Chantilly Road.

More Faith Than Ever

No street in Hiroshima could have looked worse than Chantilly Road. The UCLA scientist's sand-bag shelter—minus its burned-up railroad tie beams—did much better than the house—or the rest of the neighborhood.

"I have more faith than ever in shelter," Dr. Libby told this newsman today. "This shelter was designed against fallout—a radioactive powder—not fire. Had there been a nuclear blast, I have no doubt that it would have more than done its job."

He said that he will rebuild it with different supporting beams. The fire, which came right over the shelter, burned up the railroad ties but left the sandbags mostly intact.

"I'm thinking now about some new kind of beams. Steel would be good but might make it too expensive. I'll come up with something," he said.

"Don't forget, there's a big difference in protecting yourself from falling powder than fire. The ties would have worked fine against radioactive fallout."

"I've said all along that my shelter will work. Today, I say it more than ever."

The Libby "poor man's shelter" is a hole dug horizontally into the hillside back of what was once his home. As he shoveled out the dirt, he put into 100-pound burlap bags to construct walls three feet thick. Then he built another dirt wall in front of the hole with an offset. That's because radiation can't turn corners.

He laid the railroad ties above the sidewalk and stacked bags three feet deep atop the beams. The shelter gave a dirt wall enclosure of 4 by 6 feet. The bags were all treated with zinc chromate, a chemical preservative. Other than a few holes, the bags were undamaged.

Mrs. Libby, who had to flee when the flames came, said she gave no thought to the shelter. "I grabbed my mink coat and my husband's Nobel Prize and got out," she said.

ATOMIC AFTERMATH—Nurse Anja Valve of the chemistry department of Helsinki University measures the blood pressure of Oula Nakkalajarvi, a Laplander from northern Finland undergoing tests for radioactivity. It is feared that the Lapps have been indirectly contaminated by the recent Soviet nuclear explosions. Reindeer, the Lapps' chief food, feed mainly on lichen which, because of its slow growth, preserves radioactivity for possibly as long as 30 years.

Says Fallout at Peak

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Central Meteorological Agency announced today it has recorded the highest level of radioactivity in dust fallout caused by Soviet nuclear blasts since Sept. 1, but it said there was no immediate danger to human life.

Features of Interest To Food Shoppers

by

LOUISE M. KAKARGO

Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

Pork has been an important food since early times. The Egyptians were raising hogs for food as far back as 3400 B. C.; the Chinese, as far back as 2900 B. C.

The Early American colonists brought pigs with them from Spain, France, England, Holland, and other countries. In a few years, wild hogs roamed the woods, feeding on acorns, nuts and roots. So numerous were they in Colonial Virginia that they were a nuisance to the plantations. In the fall, it was customary to shoot hogs, and salt and smoke them for winter use and for export. In later years, they were captured and fattened before slaughter. When settlers migrated westward, they took pigs along and let them forage for feed in the wilderness.

From these modest beginnings, pork has become an important part of our diets. It supplies protein and iron as well as thiamine to our bodies.

Today, we are all interested in the number of calories in the foods we eat. The caloric value of pork is similar to beef, lamb and veal. A 3-ounce serving of cooked, smoked ham, with lean and fat, furnishes 290 calories. A fresh pork chop of 3½-ounces, trimmed to retail basis, will furnish 260 calories.

While shopping the other day, I noticed pork prices had declined somewhat. There are also many specials available. However, don't look for lower bacon prices as the storage supply is low.

Shoppers will find more pork from lean type hogs at meat counters than in the past. This trend toward the lean type hog is expected to continue.

To select high quality pork, check the fat, lean and bones. Look for:

Lean meat that is grayish pink in color with streaks of fat among the lean.

Lean meat that is firm and fine-grained with smooth, velvety appearance.

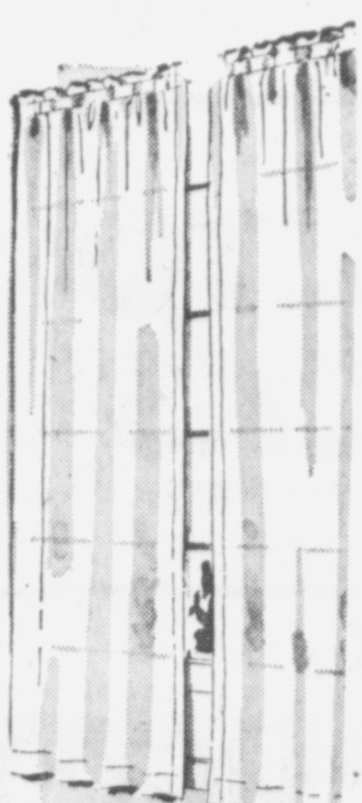

Fat that is white and firm. Bones that are porous with red or pink centers.

Thoroughness is the key to pork cookery. Cook the pink out of fresh pork so that when served, the color is grayish white. Thorough cooking brings out the flavor of pork and destroys any trichinae organisms.

Fresh pork chops, steaks and variety meats may be braised. This method cooks them well done without drying them out. To braise, brown these cuts in a small amount of fat, then cook slowly in a small amount of liquid in a covered container. Braise chops or steaks for 45-60 minutes if they are ¾ to 1½ inches thick.

Large cuts of cured pork, as well as fresh spare ribs, shoulder hocks and heart may be simmered in water or other liquid. The cooking time per pound for simmering is about the same as for roasting.

Because pork is tender, almost any large cut of fresh and cured pork may be roasted. An oven temperature of about 325 degrees is usually recommended for roasting. The meat thermometer should register an internal temperature of 185 degrees F. for fresh pork and 160 degrees F. for cooked pork unless labeled "ready-to-eat" or "fully-cooked."

Mrs. H. Knaust Heads W. Camp Church Women

Election of officers was held at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp.

Mrs. Henry Knaust was chosen president; Mrs. Alvin Messersmith, vice president; Mrs. Herman Knaust, secretary; Mrs. Harry Coon, treasurer. Functional committees are headed by Mrs. Roy Potts, membership; Mrs. Charles Graf, offerings; Mrs. Herman Knaust, education and Mrs. John Prendergast, Christian service.

Mrs. Charles Graf presented the program entitled Hunger, which brought to mind the shocking and heartbreaking poverty of a large portion of the world. The Rev. Alvin Messersmith showed a film strip produced for Lutheran World Action describing the conditions of the refugees in Hong Kong, and the relief efforts being made by Lutheran World Action and other Christian relief organizations.

During the business meeting it was decided to hold the Christmas program Dec. 12, with an open invitation to all members and friends. Each will be asked to bring a gift suitable for a child in support of the program for Foster Children of Ulster County.

Home Announces Gifts, Services

The members of the Ellen Russel Finger Home gratefully acknowledge the following gifts and services:

Apples from Mrs. Frank Steenken; tomatoes and magazines, Mrs. Herman Knaust; napkins and pillows, Mrs. Lester DeWitt.

Religious services were conducted by the Rev. August Pfau of the Blue Mountain Church; the Rev. Henry Reinwald, of the Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion; the Rev. Joseph Hamilton of St. Mary's Church; the Rev. Richard Shepherd of the Trinity Episcopal Church.

A new chair lift has been installed at the home and is now in operation.

Jaynees Begin Christmas Plan

The Jaynees' annual Christmas project of collecting and repairing toys for distribution to the needy children of Saugerties is now in progress, according to

Mrs. Andrew Chesnick, chairman of the committee.

Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. Karl Gerhard will be assisting Mrs. Chesnick in the project which will continue until Dec. 1. Anyone having repairable toys for the younger age group or books and games for older children may contact Mrs. Chesnick, Cherry Lane, and a pickup will be made.

The Jaynees work as a group on repairing the collection and then turn them over to the Welfare Department which distributes them to children of the needy at Christmas.

Lutheran Church Notes

The Rev. Walter Cowen of the Atonement Lutheran Church has requested that those members not in attendance at last Sunday's service to please return their 1962 pledge cards at the services Nov. 12 or send them to Roy Weber, financial secretary, 1 Country Club Drive, Mt. Marion Park, prior to Nov. 19. Members of the church council and stewardship committee will call on members not responding, beginning on that date.

Church envelopes for 1962 are ready and may be picked up in the primary classroom at the rear of the church.

Children of the Sunday school will bring a cake of soap for Kiddies Kits, which will be included in the assemblage of the nine kits being sent to the needy children of other lands.

Members will bring good clean used clothing to the church before Thanksgiving. Clothing will be sorted by members of the Lutheran Women of Atonement and packed for shipment through Lutheran World Relief to places of critical need. It is reported that shipments to Germany have been discontinued because there is no longer need and that the churches of West Germany are giving substantially for food and needs, changing from a recipient to a giver.

Tuesday, November 14, confirmation classes meet 4 p. m. followed by choir rehearsal. Tuesday, 8 p. m., church council will hold its monthly meeting.

Wednesday, junior choir rehearsal will be at 6:45 p. m., Atonement choir rehearsal 8 p. m.

This Sunday, 7:30 p. m., annual sacred music concert will be held.

Members will consult The Tidings, monthly church paper in the mails this week, for the articles to bring that are listed under the letter of their last name. Churches of the Saugerties Council of Churches are co-operating in this community project.

U.S. Drops 350 Aid Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has dropped 350 foreign aid employees from the payroll in setting up the new Agency for International Development.

The dismissed employees had worked for the International Cooperation Administration, which went out of business when the new agency was created.

Many of those dismissed, foreign aid officials said Wednesday, were specialists whose specialty no longer is needed.

Layoff notices were sent out last Friday.

Kowal Offered Help

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller offered the assistance of his administration today to Chester Kowal, Republican mayor-elect of Buffalo, where the police department has been under fire from the state for purported laxity.

Kowal said he planned to confer with various department heads in the Republican state administration, including the State Police superintendent and state housing commissioner.

Kowal's election Tuesday was a bright spot for Republicans, who lost major contests in New York City, Rochester and Nassau County.

Rockefeller congratulated Kowal, who defeated three Democrats in a four-way race, for "bringing Buffalo back to good government and the Republican ranks."

GIs Are Shuttled Over Red Highway

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army today began shuttling troop units over the Soviet-controlled autobahn between West Germany and West Berlin for brief training periods in the Communist-surrounded city.

A motorized company of 150 riflemen rolled out of its West German base at Bamberg, Bavaria, and headed for the autobahn and Berlin today to inaugurate the program.

Due to train several days in Berlin and then return to Bamberg, the unit is Co. D of the 1st Battle Group, 15th Infantry, 3rd Division. It is commanded by Capt. Rex L. Holland of Glencoe, Okla.

Units from the 6,500-man Berlin garrison will also be shuttled to West Germany for brief periods there.

Soviet authorities have been informed of the move, said an announcement from U.S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg.

The motor march to and from Berlin was termed a routine exercise to stress driver training, road maintenance and tactical convoy procedures.

Timberlake Will Hear More About Fallout Shelters

Residents of Timberlake Estates, a housing development near Shultis Corners on Glasco Turnpike in the Town of Saugerties will hear additional information about establishment of a community fallout shelter Friday 8:30 p. m. at the home of Michael Kutcher.

Residents in that area — 11 families out of a possible 30 — have been studying the possibility of establishing a community fallout shelter. Members of the development have been checking various phases of the project and are seeking a site nearby on which to construct the building. Approximately 100 by 150 feet of land is required. The committee is hoping for a donation of a site to lower the cost of the project.

Preliminary discussions indicated that it would cost approximately $600 per family to construct the shelter estimated to cost over $8,000. The finance committee has determined that a Federal Housing Authority approved loan could be secured

Upstate Driver Hurt in Mishap

A 29-year-old Syracuse man was injured, and a Poughkeepsie man summoned on a traffic violation at 4:50 p. m. Wednesday as the result of a two-car collision on Route 9W at Milton Turnpike, Highland.

State Police said the cars involved were owned and operated by Frank Maldonado Jr., of Box 962, Syracuse and Casper Ruger Jr., 46, of 31 Franklin Street, Poughkeepsie.

Trooper James Kaljian said Maldonado was traveling south on Route 9W in the right traffic lane and Ruger was going in the same direction in the left lane ahead of the other vehicle when the Poughkeepsie driver attempted a right turn into Milton Avenue and the crash occurred.

Maldonado received a laceration over his right eye. He said he would see his physician. Ruger was summoned to appear Tuesday, Nov. 14 before Justice of the Peace Louis J. Canino, Highland, on a charge of changing lanes unsafely.

Placid Man One Of 11 Killed in Crash of Bomber

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Eleven Navy men were killed Wednesday when their Brunswick based Neptune bomber plunged into the ocean 100 miles off the Virginia Capes.

The plane, designated PV2, a two-engine, long-range bomber, was taking part in an antisubmarine training mission with the carrier Lake Champlain.

for 14 hours in the air.

85th Anniversary for Children's Home; Open House and Tea on Wednesday, Nov. 15

The Children's Home is celebrating its 85th Anniversary with a tea on Wednesday, Nov. 15 from 2 to 6. The Board of Managers cordially invites the public to take this opportunity to visit the Home.

The Children's Home is a small but vitally important institution which cares for boys in two age groups. A cottage on the property houses boys from five to 12 years old, while boys from 12 to 18 years live in the original larger building at 77 East Chester Street.

The Board of Managers, with Gerald E. Shampo, director, has developed a program which concentrates on providing special care for boys who need the security of a set routine. The Children's Home is the only agency in this area which care for needy boys who, for one reason or another are not presently adaptable to Foster Home care.

In addition to providing proper guidance and a home like atmosphere through high school years, the Home's program is geared toward preparing boys to take a useful place in life for the future.

The Edward M. Stanbrough Loan Fund, which is administered by the Board of Managers, enables boys who wish to continue their education past High School to do so.

A group of prominent business men serve the Children's Home as trustees and are, as such, available for consultation. Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb, G. V. D. Hutton, George B. Matthews, M. Clifford Miller, Herbert Myers, the Rev. Arthur Oudemool, Alfred Schmid, John R. Shults, John B. Sterley.

Hostesses Trained For Welcome Wagon

Mrs. Elva and Miss Alice Crunkilton of this city, has returned from New York City where they completed a course of training preparing them for the position of Welcome Wagon Hostesses which they now hold in this community.

Mrs. and Miss Crunkilton reside at 33 Warren Street, Kingston, and are two of Welcome Wagon's approximately 5,000 Hostesses who are making approximately a million calls annually on families in the continental United States, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and in the Provinces of Canada, embracing more than 2000 cities.

These calls on behalf of Welcome Wagon's approximately 75,000 Sponsors are made on such important family occasions as the birth of a baby, sixteenth birthdays, engagement announcements; also when families move locally in a community and when they arrive in a community as new residents. Calls are also made on special occasions such as golden wedding anniversaries and other special family events.

Thomas W. Briggs is founder and president of Welcome Wagon, which is now in its 34th year. Often referred to as a service "in the business of building friendships," Welcome Wagon's basic policy includes cooperation with all religious faiths, with worthwhile civic and social service groups; also participation in these activities which keep communities good places in which to live. It is significant that Welcome Wagon has been cited for its volunteer service and achievement in community and nation by such organizations as the American Red Cross, The National Foundation, American Heart Association, American Heritage Foundation, United States Treasury Department and many other such groups.

Welcome Wagon service is one not only of public relations but, more important, it meets a present-day need in the field of human relations.

Mrs. and Miss Crunkilton, on behalf of their Sponsors here in Kingston, will take Religious and Civic information to the families on whom they call. With their basket of gifts, Mrs. and Miss Crunkilton will extend for those Sponsors to the people of this community the old-fashioned hospitality for which Welcome Wagon is so well known.

Mrs. and Miss Crunkilton know this community. They are interested in its welfare and in its progress, including the well-being of its citizens.

PUTTING UP FIANCE

Q: I am a widow in the mid-thirties and have two young children, three and five, living at home with me. I am engaged to a man who lives in another city. Twice a month he comes and spends a weekend here. In the past he has stayed at my mother's house a short distance from here. However, my brother who has been working out of town has returned home and they can no longer accommodate my fiancé. I would like to know if it would be proper for him to stay at my house. I could very easily put him up if it has your approval. This is a small town and I would not like to do anything that could cause gossip. Your opinion on this matter will be much appreciated.

A: I'm sorry, but if he stays at your house with only your children as chaperones, you will most certainly risk gossip.

Sending One's Photograph as a Gift

Q: I had some photographs taken of myself recently. They turned out very well and I thought of having copies made and framed to give to my friends at Christmas. Before doing so, however, I would like to know what you think about this? Might this be considered conceited on my part?

A: Unless any of your friends, upon seeing the pictures, express a wish to have one, it would be presumptuous on your part to send them one.

Taking Gifts to Wedding Reception

Q: When attending a wedding reception, is it proper to give the bride her gift (if it's money) at that time or should it be sent to her home before the wedding? It has been a family custom for many years to give the gift at the wedding, but it seems to me that it would be nicer to send it before the wedding. Will you please give me your opinion?

A: All gifts should be sent to the bride's house before the wedding, and never given to her at the reception.

Should the tissue papers be removed before mailing wedding invitations? The answer to this question as well as correct wedding forms will be found in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, to cover cost of handling, and a self-addressed, stamped, envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Johanna Hutton Weds Francis Castiglione In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Mary's

Miss Johanna Mary Hutton, daughter of Joseph P. Hutton of 42 Elmendorf Street, Kingston, and Francis Castiglione Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Castiglione Sr., of 33 Valentine Avenue, Kingston, exchanged nuptial vows on Sunday, Nov. 5, at 2 p.m. The double ring ceremony was held at St. Mary's Church in Kingston and officiated by the Rev. Edward Farrelly. The church was decorated with white gladioli. Organist was Theodore Riccobono and soloist was Martin Kelly. Musical selections were, Ave Maria, Panis Angelicus and Mother Beloved.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie fashioned with a molded bodice and a high scalloped neckline trimmed with lace and sequin motifs, long tapered sleeves. The bouffant hooped skirt trimmed with sequin motifs swept back into a chapel train. Satin roses set off the motifs in the skirt. A headpiece of lace and roses secured the pure silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a corsage of white roses.

Miss Joanne Castiglione, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of gold silk organza. It was styled with a scoop neckline, shirred bodice and very full skirt trimmed with large self roses in the back. She wore a matching crown with a circular veil. She carried a bouquet of rust and yellow pompons.

Other attendants were Mrs. Harry Nichols, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Miss Jeannine Hutton, sister of the bride, and Miss Winnie Shoemaker. The bridesmaids' gowns were in a style to the honor attendant's except in color. They carried bouquets of pink and lavender pompons.

Niece of the bride, Debbie Finley, wore a floor length gown of maize chiffon foil over nylon set over a deeper shade of maize taffeta. It featured puffed sleeves and cummerbund at the waist. She wore a miniature crown of maize flowers and carried a fireside basket of pompons.

Nephew of the bridegroom, Vincent Moden, was ringbearer. Best man was Louis Marelli, cousin of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Harry Nichols, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Ronald Newkirk, and Philip Hutton, brother of the bride.

A reception for 110 guests was held at Aiello's Restaurant after the church ceremony.

The bride was graduated with the class of '61, Kingston High School, and is employed by Wood, Walker & Co. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by Thomas Kennedy & Son.

For their wedding trip through upstate New York, the bride wore a light blue wool sheath with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. On return from their trip, the couple will make their home in Kingston.

JFK May Go to Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported thinking about spending the weekend at Camp David, the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of western Maryland.

If he goes, it will be his second visit since he became President Jan. 20. His previous visit was when he met former President Dwight D. Eisenhower there after the Cuban invasion fiasco. Eisenhower spent many weekends at the isolated retreat during his eight years in office.

Home Extension Service News

Bloomington Unit

Plans for a Christmas party will be formulated at a business meeting of the Bloomington Extension Unit to be held Tuesday, Nov. 14 at 1 p.m. at the Bloomington Fire Hall.

A decision will be made for a bus trip to New York City temporarily planned for Wednesday, Dec. 13.

Elsie Ingram, unit chairman, urges all members to attend the meeting next Tuesday afternoon.

At the Markets

Meat—All meats remain in good supply. Pork marketings, particularly are increasing seasonally and somewhat lower prices are in the offing.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has reinstated the standards for smoked hams that were in effect prior to December 30, 1960. The standards relate to moisture content and require that the weight of smoked hams and certain other smoked pork products shall not exceed the weight of the fresh uncured product. Moisture, then, cannot be added to the final product.

New regulations governing moisture absorption by poultry went into effect in August. Some moisture is inevitably absorbed by poultry in the washing and cleaning of the birds. The new limits assure consumers that poultry bearing the USDA inspection mark contains no added moisture beyond the amount necessary to provide a clean and wholesome product.

Fruits—The weather has been nearly perfect for apple harvesting and good progress has been made in picking the crop. McIntoshes and Cortlands are low priced. Delicious prices are somewhat higher. Other fruit choices include avocados, pears, grapes, coconuts and limes.

Vegetables—Shoppers have an unusually large volume of vegetables to choose from at this time of year. Open temperate fall weather has prolonged the season for the harder local vegetables. The South Atlantic States are still shipping to our markets, while winter growing areas are harvesting. Shoppers will find good quality and reasonable prices for anise, broccoli, cabbage, Eastern potatoes, pumpkins, carrots, celery, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, snap beans, beets, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, escarole, endive, squash, sweet potatoes, peppers, radishes and mushrooms.

Kingston Evening Unit

Kingston Evening Unit will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. in the meeting room of Colonial Gardens.

Instruction in making bottle covers will be led by Ann Kubicek. Needed for the project will be one four ounce skein of four ply worsted wool; a No. 5 bone crochet needle, two buttons for eyes, one large darning needle, half a yard of half inch ribbon, needle and thread and a quart bottle.

Refreshments will be served by Kay Hansen and Nancy Hussey, hostesses for the evening.

Those interested in membership in the Kingston Evening Unit may contact Mrs. C. James Cameron of Kingston.

ABC OF FALLOUT

The Types of Fallout

STRATOSPHERIC FALLOUT

Can take years to fall to earth through interaction of air currents. If high enough, the fallout could spread over the entire world.

TROPOSPHERIC FALLOUT

Radioactive particles in this region where weather is formed fall in matter of weeks, brought down mostly along with rain and snow.

LOCAL FALLOUT

Formed of matter scooped up by bomb's fireball; is most dangerous type, but extends only a few hundred miles, settles within hours.

The lower a blast occurs, the more material it scoops up from the earth and drops as local and tropospheric fallout. Higher and more powerful bombs send more particles into the stratosphere, where they linger, lose much potency.

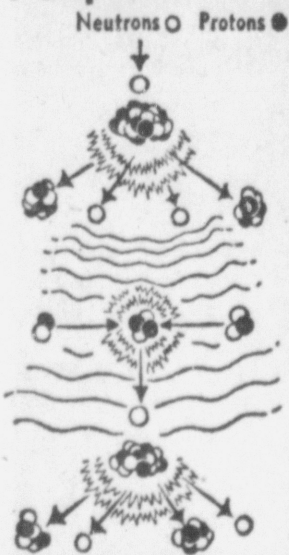

Everyone takes for granted the almost unbelievable blast and heat unleashed by a nuclear bomb. What worries the world today are the uncertain—thus, more terrifying—effects of a nuclear bomb's by-products: radioactive particles, or fallout. Ordinary people have reason to be confused, for even scientists dispute over the dangers of fallout and on the value of shelters. Charts above illustrate how fallout is formed, what happens to it and list some of its characteristics. As for its effects on the human race, our grandchildren will perhaps answer that

Three Stages of Superbomb

1. FISSION—Neutrons emitted by uranium-235 split other U-235 atoms (ordinary A-bomb). Reaction produces free neutrons and great heat.

2. FUSION—The heat fuses two types of hydrogen, creating the H-bomb explosion with blast, heat and more high-speed neutrons.

3. FISSION—Neutrons strike casing made of uranium-238, splitting it into radioactive units.

Effects of Fallout

LETHAL BURNS can be caused by shower of radioactive particles close to explosion area.

INTERNAL effects are caused by breathing in particles and ingesting them with affected food.

LONG-TERM effects of internal radiation may include damage to blood-producing and disease-resisting machinery of body, and altering of the reproductive cells.

"Dirtiness" of a hydrogen bomb is caused by its uranium trigger and outer casing (diagram, left). • Long-lasting fallout threat is contamination of food for men and animals.

The Most Dangerous Fallout Particles

Most serious of fallout products, has half-life of about 27 years (that is, in 27 years it has lost half its radioactivity). Is easily absorbed into bones of children; can cause bone cancer or leukemia.

STRONTIUM-90

CESIUM-137

IODINE-131

CARBON-14

Similar half-life to strontium-90, it lodges in muscles and tissues of body; threatens genetic harm.

Collects in thyroid gland, but has short half-life of only eight days.

Long half-life; it could be particularly inimical to process of heredity, cause defective births.

Strontium-89, barium-140, zirconium-95 are among the many others. Most have short half-lives, but would be dangerous in nuclear war, to both the living and unborn.

In all, some 200 different radioactive isotopes (radioactive forms of ordinary elements) are created by a hydrogen bomb blast. Fortunately, most decay rapidly. Those which don't, however, pose a serious danger to mankind. Authorities are not agreed just where impermissible levels begin. Some argue any amount of radioactivity is potentially dangerous.

question. Little fallout from the current Russian tests has yet settled to earth; the great bulk of it will appear with next spring's rains. But local fallout from Russia's current series of tests undoubtedly has affected the U.S.S.R. The U. S. Weather Bureau says that anyone living within 100 miles downwind of the 50 megaton-plus superbomb would have received 100 roentgens (a measure of radiation; 600 is fatal to everyone), which would have caused "mild sickness." The Atomic Energy Commission estimates that the Soviets' big bomb was detonated at about 12,000 feet and had a fireball nearly five miles in diameter.

Voters Approve Plan

approved a proposition providing for pay increases and a career plan for members of the city's fire and police departments. The vote was 2,075 yes and 1,206 no. The proposal was approved by a majority vote in each of the city's eight election districts.

Officials Probe

Thruway Crash Fatal to Women

Authorities are still trying to determine the cause of the Thruway accident near Rosendale Tuesday afternoon which took the lives of two Ridgewood, N. J. sisters.

Trooper Norman Kilfoyle learned Wednesday that the two women, one a Protestant minister, had visited at the home of John Mella in the Lake Hill section of Woodstock and also picked up a quantity of holiday greens prior to heading back to New Jersey via the Kingston Interchange.

Coroner Francis J. McCardie said that Sofia Fischer, 55, the driver of the vehicle died of asphyxia from a pulmonary hemorrhage, caused by a lacerated lung. The coroner said his sister, Mrs. Louise Gerhold, 58, pastor of Unity Center of Practical Christianity in Ridgewood, died of a massive skull fracture.

The trooper said their car traveled 260 feet along the right shoulder of the Thruway about six miles south of Kingston, then went into a ditch and rammed a tree.

Their only survivors are a brother in Germany and Mrs. Gerhold's son, Henry, professor of forestry at Pennsylvania State College.

Say Cambodians

Take Island in Thailand Gulf

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Two boatloads of armed Cambodian troops have garrisoned a small island in Cambodian territorial waters of the Gulf of Thailand, press reports reaching Bangkok said today.

The reports said the troops landed Monday on Yor Island, less than five miles from a Thai border village.

This was the second report of a Cambodian military move since neutralist Cambodia broke off diplomatic relations with pro-Western Thailand Oct. 23.

Radio Thailand on Oct. 27 said a company of Cambodian soldiers had been sighted at the frontier between the two countries.

Business Assn. to Meet

Announcements have been mailed to members of the Roundout Area Business Men's Association about the November dinner and meeting next Wednesday at Ray's Riverside Rest, 86 Ferry Street. Reservations close on Monday. All members are urged to attend.

Bishop Is Rescued

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist rebels ambushed a Roman Catholic bishop in the southern delta region Wednesday, but he was rescued by a passing military convoy, a government spokesman said today.

'Secularists' Concepts' Are Viewed as Threat to Youth

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A Roman Catholic archbishop says that a growing domination of "secularists' concepts" in public schools is posing a threat to the moral character of the nation's youth.

The Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, coadjutor archbishop of Baltimore, speaking at a Pontifical Mass Wednesday opening a two-day convention of the National Conference of Catholic Youth Service Agencies, said:

"It is not too much to say that the more effective a truly secularized education is, the more likely it is to be destructive of the very foundations of moral character."

At best, he said, "religion — from the very fact that it has no place in the (public school) curriculum — is treated as something that is very unimportant. Very often the curriculum is, if not openly, at least occultly, hostile to religion."

Archbishop Shehan urged Catholic youth workers to present programs which would help "make up for the lack of religious education in public schools."

In a speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon meeting, Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond of the State Court of Appeals said in the field of social welfare "some people will face anything except the facts."

"There will always be plenty of people who pretend that those whom the social agencies help are all to blame for their own troubles...there will always be those who comfort themselves with those lazy answers, who shrug off the world's greatest problems, sweep them all under the rug, insist that they really do not exist..."

District Deputy To Visit Elks, Class to Enter

One of the most important programs of the year takes place tonight for members of Kingston Lodge 550, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The occasion is the annual visit at the lodge on Fair Street of District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Daniel Becker of Newburgh, accompanied by State Vice President Donald Sherwood.

In addition to entertaining the leaders of the fraternal order, there will be a large class received into the lodge at a program by its Exalter Ruler, Michael Marchuk.

Starting time of the lodge meeting is 8 p. m. A dinner for the candidates and members of the Elks will be held at 6:30.

U.N. and Katanga Tension Mounts

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — Mounting tension between the U.N. and Katanga authorities was reported in the Lake Tanganyika port of Albertville today by Belgians arriving from the area.

The Belgians said U.N. officials were refusing to allow the Katanga army to move about and were preventing civil authorities from carrying out their functions.

Central DCSL Section Adopts 4-Referee System This Season

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

(Note: The following article on the Middletown High football team, which meets Kingston Saturday in a DUSO headliner, was written by Glenn Doty, sports editor of the Middletown Times-Herald Record. He has covered the Middies in their six previous contests this season.)

Middletown, on the brink of its greatest season since 1917, will be extremely cautious Saturday when it takes on what many consider an underrated Kingston eleven.

The Middies, unbeaten in 12 straight games and owner of an eight game winning streak, could be favored by as many as three touchdowns. But it won't be Coach John Whitehead who'll be giving such odds.

It is a well-known fact in Middletown, that it was an undermanned Kingston team that was upset by Port Jervis, and a loss to powerful White Plains is never considered a sign of a weak team.

Kingston's tie with Mont Pleasant raised many an eyebrow in Middletown.

For these reasons, and many more, especially KHS coach Bill Burke's record over Middletown in the last 10 years, the Blue and White are being cautioned against over-confidence.

THE MHS RECORD

Middletown started its season with a 31-0 one-sided victory over Poughkeepsie, followed with a 65-0 win over Saunders-Commerce, and blanked Yonkers, 37-0. Then came victories over Newburgh, 26-7, A. B. Davis, 19-7 and Union-Endicott, 21-0.

These games give evidence of a powerful offense and an equally stubborn defense.

But there is really no star other than halfback Ronnie Smith. The senior speedster excels no matter where he plays or what he is called upon to do. He is Middletown's leading scorer, is quarterback Bill Kindberg's favorite pass receiver and is a virtual tiger on defense.

Beyond Smith's talents, Middletown is nothing more than a good, solid, hard-hitting team, that plays as a team. There have been Saturdays when the tackles, Joe Radivoy and Charley Loidice have looked like bulls in a China shop, scattering opposition players aside en route to spilling the quarterback, or ball carrier for a loss.

Other weeks the guards, Jim Wright and Jack Hinton have excelled, or the ends, Bill Gray, Bob Brennan, George Cline and Charley Smith have been aggressive.

While several players may have looked better than the rest, Coach Whitehead has insisted right along that his club has consistently played good ball.

A T-FORMATION CLUB

Middletown, unlike some of its opponents, has been strictly a T-formation club with variations like slots right and left, the lone end and a wing.

Smith, fullback Dick Collins and quarterback Kindberg have been the workhorses, with Neil Simmons, Dwight Smith filling in for the injured Steve Grodin, at the other halfback post.

Grodin, who has missed four straight games, is expected to be ready for Kingston. Grodin was expected to be one of the top backs in the league until he was hit with injury. The speedy senior, who runs the 180-yard hurdles during track season, has break-away speed that makes him dangerous once he turns the corner.

In addition, Kindberg has emerged as one of the league's finest passers. He's averaging better than 50 per cent completions and has been throwing from 10 to 15 passes a game.

Middletown has yet to yield 100 yards on the ground, and last week stopped cold, one of the state's leading aerial teams, Union-Endicott, U.E., before last Saturday night, had been averaging more than 25 passes a game, with close to 60 per cent completion.

Middletown limited U.E. to 17 passes, six completions.

The Central Section of the Dutchess County Scholastic League has voted to use four officials in all league basketball games in the 1961-62 season.

The announcement was made at the annual rules interpretation meeting held at Highland Central school. The DCSL becomes the first area league to adopt the four-man system.

Joseph Lawson, executive committee member and vice president Bernard McGovern negotiated the agreement with Kenneth Stewart, Commissioner of Officials for the DCSL.

Lawson pointed out that he hoped other leagues would follow the pattern established by the DCSL's Central Section. Several advantages of the four-official plan were emphasized. First of all, by using four men per night, it will give the younger officials an opportunity to gain much needed experience and assure the varsity coaches that they will have two "fresh men" for the all important varsity game.

With many schools getting new gyms and larger playing areas it is almost a physical impossibility for two men to work two contests and stay at top efficiency through the night, proponents pointed out. They feel that better officiating will certainly result from this endeavor since the younger officials will develop much faster with actual junior varsity contest officiating experience.

Changes in Rules
Following the business meeting, Werner (Buck) Gros, the Official Rules Interpreter, reported several new rule changes and points of emphasis for the 1961-62 season. Gros had attended the annual IAABO rules interpretation meeting in New York City in October.

One of the significant changes deals with substitutions after violations and will give coaches on the average of 30 more opportunities to substitute than at present. Other changes deal with offensive fouls, position during the jump ball, tie games played in quarters, neutral zone along the free throw lanes and permission to throw lanes and permission to throw lanes.

David Porter of the Ethic Committee outlined the work of this committee and urged all officials to abide by the recommendations that has been established by Board 114. He especially noted that officials must not solicit games and give scouting reports to rival coaches after officiating games.

Joseph Benjamin of Saugerties, the Ulster County executive committee member and chairman of the annual spring dinner meeting, reported that plans were progressing satisfactorily for the affair.

President Robert Magill of Poughkeepsie appointed a nominating committee consisting of George Randall, chairman; Wilson Shea, Holcombe Tomson, George Ellis and Michael Goluppo. They will recommend a slate of officers for the annual spring meeting.

In addition to the training clinics for new officials at IBM, Poughkeepsie, two interpretation meetings were planned for coaches, players and fans. One was held last night at Arlington High school gym. A second is scheduled tonight at the Kate Walton field house in Kingston.

Buffalo Coaches Are in Trouble

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Owner Ralph C. Wilson of the Buffalo Bills says the players can make or break the coaching staff's future in the next five American Football League games.

Wilson, in an interview with the Buffalo Courier-Express Wednesday night, said the performance of the club would determine if wholesale changes would be made for the 1962 season.

Coach Buster Ramsey, who has

Nicklaus Turns Pro

By DAVE HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Amateur golfers have given a sigh of relief, but the professionals of the game are casting a wary eye at a newcomer to their ranks—Jack Nicklaus, the most talked about amateur since Bobby Jones.

The Ohio State University senior, 21, who has won just about every amateur title around, including the National Amateur in 1959 and 1961, announced Wednesday that he is entering the play-for-pay field.

"I just decided I wanted to play golf," the stocky blond said. "And I owe it to my family to give them the best possible living I can."

"I started thinking seriously about the professional game just before the Walker Cup matches this year. I didn't have any school work or job to worry about. I just played golf. Then after the cup, I spent two weeks getting ready for the U. S. Amateur and my game really started setting good."

Nicklaus, who started swinging golf clubs when he was only 10, plans to drop out of school at the end of the autumn quarter—in mid-December.

"I hope to start my professional career in the Bing Crosby Invitational at Pebble Beach (Jan. 18-21)," Nicklaus said. "I finished my amateur career on that course and I'd like to start my professional one there."

The finish was his triumph in the U. S. Amateur.

Athletes Take New Army Role In Good Stride

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The athletes Uncle Sam pulled into the Army because of the Berlin crisis aren't yelling "foul!"

"It's one of the things you have to accept as part of the times," said Pvt. Ray Nitschke, hard-muscled linebacker of the Green Bay Packers.

"I took an oath of obligation when I joined the reserves and never considered applying for deferment," Nitschke added.

"This," said Pvt. Tony Kubek, star shortstop of the world champion New York Yankees, "is a much bigger thing than any baseball game."

Three other prominent soldier-athletes of the 32nd Red Arrow Infantry Division expressed similar sentiment, said Lt. Robert Bjorklund, public information officer.

They are Pvt. Bob Taylor, Milwaukee Braves outfielder; George Thomas, Los Angeles Angels outfielder; and Doug Mayberry, Minneapolis Vikings fullback.

Boyd Dowler, Green Bay halfback, is expected to join the division next week. The unit will receive intensive training for battle readiness in the coming weeks.

None is overjoyed with the change in uniform, the interruption of career, the cut in wages. Each draws base pay of $55.80 per month. Most, if not all, are in the five-figure salary class as athletes.

"I didn't make much more when I was down in the minors," grinned Kubek, revealing a chipped tooth—his first Army souvenir. He got it playing touch football with his new buddies in Company A, Third Battle Group, 127th Infantry.

"The Army is not an easy thing to accept," Kubek added. "You can hardly blame anyone for feeling a little bitter."

Pat Summerall's Golden Toe Edge For Giants Over Eagles

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Pat Summerall, the New York Giants' golden-toed place-kicker, realizes that he may wind up being the difference this Sunday when the Philadelphia Eagles come to Yankee Stadium for the crucial Eastern Conference game against the Giants.

Summerall, a boyish-looking 10-year National Football League veteran, currently holds the consecutive extra points string, 107 without a miss, for active NFL players. Since coming to the Giants from the Cardinals in 1958, he has missed only two.

"On sure, I'm conscious of it (the streak)," he said today. "I don't know how many I have to go to break the record (50 to break George Elanda's mark of 156 with the Bears), but it doesn't bother me too much."

Summerall, who has booted 24 extra points so far this year, also takes care of the field goals. It is in this department, particularly, that he may mean the difference against a tough defensive team like the Eagles.

He's already made nine of 24 this year, his longest being a pair of 44-yard drives, both coming in losing efforts, against St. Louis and Dallas in Yankee Stadium. A 19-yarder against Pittsburgh proved to be the difference in a 17-14 victory, as did one of 28 yards in a 24-21 win over Washington.

"I try to kick all my field goals the same way," he said. "When I'm in close, I'll try and scoop the ball a little more and get it in the air quicker. A good kicker will make nine of 10 from 30 yards or less, and can be fairly accurate from 35 to 38 yards out."

The inside secret to being a good place-kicker, he says is to "get a man who knows how to hold the ball. I've never had a bad hold from Charley (Conerly)."

In other NFL games Sunday, Baltimore is at Minnesota, Cleveland at Washington, Dallas at Pittsburgh, Detroit at St. Louis, Green Bay at Chicago and San Francisco at Los Angeles.

Baseball's Top Pitcher

Whitey Ford Captures First Cy Young Award

By JOE REICHLER

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—Whitey Ford was as pleased as a rookie pitching his first major league victory when he learned he had been voted the 1961 Cy Young award as baseball's outstanding pitcher.

"You know something," he said. "It's the first award I've ever gotten in 15 years in baseball. Oh, I did get an award once, but it was while I was in the Army and it was for hitting, not pitching. And the game was softball, to boot."

The southpaw star of the world champion New York Yankees appeared more excited than when he turned in 15 scoreless innings against Cincinnati in the World Series, breaking Babe Ruth's record of 29-23 consecutive scoreless innings in World Series competition.

"It's a big thrill," he said. "I remember when Bob Turley won the award several years ago and I wondered whether I'd ever be lucky enough to get it. It sure was worth waiting for. I can't think of another award I'd prefer over this one."

In the voting announced Wednesday night in Boston, Ford, 21, received nine of a possible 17 votes from a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America to join such previous award winners as Don Newcombe (1956), Warren Spahn (1957), Turley (1958), Early Wynn (1959) and Vernon Law (1960).

Spahn, the brilliant Milwaukee southpaw, was second with six votes. Right-hander Frank Lary, Detroit's 23-game winner, was named on the other ballots. One writer failed to vote.

The Stilt Scores 58

Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, of the Philadelphia Warriors, seems a cinch to set a record season individual scoring total in the National Basketball Association.

The former Kansas All-American tossed in 58 points Wednesday night to lead the Warriors to a 123-128 victory over the Detroit Pistons. That gave him an even 400 points for eight games. If he keeps up this 50-point per game average for the remaining 72 games of the regular season he will shatter his own NBA single-season scoring mark of 3,053 points. Wilt set the record last season in 79 games.

In other NBA action Wednesday night the New York Knicks ended a 4-game losing streak by drubbing the Chicago Packers 52-20. The Los Angeles Lakers again whipped the St. Louis Hawks 124-118.

Chamberlain got his 58 points on 23 field goals and 12 free throws as the Warriors came from 11 points behind in the third quarter.

The Lakers also came from behind to whip the Hawks and strengthen their hold on first place in the Western Division.

Jerry West and Elgin Baylor rallied the Lakers in a second-half attack that wiped out a 13-point St. Louis lead. West finished with 42 points and Baylor with 39.

The Knicks piled up a 39-26 first quarter lead against Chicago and had an easy time ending their losing streak. Richie Guerin, with 33 points, and Johnny Green, with 30, sparked the New Yorkers.

Injury Shelves Syracuse Guard

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The left hand of guard John Paglio was back in a cast today, ruling him out of action for the Colgate game Saturday.

Syracuse football coach Ben Schwartzwalder had planned to use Paglio as the No. 2 man at left guard. Doctors said Wednesday the hand, injured in the Maryland game a month ago, had not healed completely.

Utah State No. 1 Team on Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—Utah State, Alabama and Pennsylvania are proving the sternest clubs against opposition attacks as the college football season heads into its final weeks. NCAA Service Bureau statistics show:

Utah State ranks No. 1 in total defense and rushing defense after throwing up a roadblock against its last three opponents. In victories over Idaho, Colorado State University and Brigham Young, the Utags yielded only 118 yards over-all. In all eight of its games, Utah State has given up 929 yards for a 116.1 average, with 330 of these yards on the ground for a 41.3 average.

Alabama is second in total defense and rushing defense and is first in scoring offense. Bama has held seven opponents to 911 yards, a 130.1 average, and in rushing has given up 386 yards, a 55.1 average. When it comes to holding down the enemies' scoring the Tide has been tough, permitting just 22 points or 3.1 a game.

Penn has lost four of its seven starts but still leads in pass defense, with a 50.7 yard average. The Quakers have allowed 30 completions in 92 attempts and have intercepted 11.

Arizona State remains the punt-leader, averaging 42.4 yards on 19 kicks.

Colgate Injuries Don't Disturb Coach

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—Coach Al Kelley says his football team's injuries will not affect the outcome of the Syracuse game Saturday.

"This is going to take a massive effort on everyone's part, not just the first team, if we are to spring an upset," he told a football luncheon yesterday.

Fullback John Ciovari will miss the game while halfback Jim Deegan is a doubtful starter.

Cleveland Pipers Find Rough Going in Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Pipers, national AAU champions last year after dominating the National Industrial League, are having a rough time living up to their favorite's role as professionals in the new American Basketball League.

Three clutch points in the closing minutes by ex-Kansas University star Bill Bridges sent the Pipers down to their second loss in three ABL starts Wednesday night, a 101-100 squeaker to the Kansas City Steers.

The Pipers, who moved almost intact into the ABL with last year's title squad, made up a 14-point deficit and grabbed a 99-99 lead on Rog Taylor's fast-break field goal with three minutes remaining. Then Bridges hit a fielder and added a free throw and the Steers had their second victory in four games.

Quick Cure

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (NEA) — North Carolina halfback Wally Dunham was on crutches for weeks following an operation on his knee, which was in a cast. He watched games from the sidelines. At one game, Dunham became so excited about a play, he slammed his crutches to the ground so hard he broke them. Then he hobbled off without them.

Johnson won last year with a 72-hole total of 273.

Home Grounds

Tie Brings Joy To Phil Watson

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Watson was in a smiling, optimistic mood. He fairly radiated as he talked of his young Boston Bruins, their rapid improvement in the National Hockey League and their promise for the future.

To hear the Boston coach, you'd have thought his Bruins had won big Wednesday night in the league's only game and were in hot contention for first place.

They barely managed a 4-4 tie with the New York Rangers on a last-gasp 20-footer by Don McKenney with 18 seconds left and still are in the cellar.

New York moved up, however, tying Montreal for the lead.

There's no doubt the Bruins have improved. After their first eight games they stood none won, seven lost and one tied. In five starts since Boston has won two, tied two and lost once.

Plan Closed Circuit For Syracuse-Irish

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The Syracuse - Notre Dame football game will be shown on closed-circuit television at the War Memorial Auditorium Nov. 18.

The television committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association yesterday reversed an earlier decision and gave permission to telecast the game, which will be played at South Bend, Ind.

Earlier, the committee ruled that a telecast might hurt attendance at the Rutgers-Colgate game at Hamilton and the John Carroll-Hobart game at Geneva.

Snead and Johnson Favorites in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Sam Snead and Howie Johnson, the defending champion from Cog Hill, Ill., are co-favorites in the 17th Mexican National Open Golf Tournament which begins today.

Four 18-hole rounds will be played in the $10,000 tournament, with Snead making his first appearance since his suspension was lifted by the United States PGA.

Johnson won last year with a 72-hole total of 273.

Quick Cure

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (NEA) — North Carolina halfback Wally Dunham was on crutches for weeks following an operation on his knee, which was in a cast. He watched games from the sidelines. At one game, Dunham became so excited about a play, he slammed his crutches to the ground so hard he broke them. Then he hobbled off without them.

Johnson won last year with a 72-hole total of 273.

Home Grounds

BALTIMORE (NEA)—Ogden Phipps' Broadway, a top candidate for the Marguerite at Pimlico this fall, should feel right at home on the track. Her sire, Hasty Road, won the Preakness there in 1954. Her half-sister, Funloving, won Pimlico's Black-Eyed Susan Stakes last spring.

A small boy was asked to dine at the home of a distinguished professor. His mother questioned him on his return.

Mother—You are sure you didn't do anything that was not perfectly polite?

Small Boy—Why, no, nothing to speak of.

Mother—Then something did happen.

Small Boy—Well, while I was trying to cut the meat it slipped off on the floor. But I made it all right.

Mother—What did you do?

Small Boy—Oh, I just said carefully, that's always the way with tough meat.

That sick man is not to be pitied, who hath his cure in his sleeve.

Your whole world is within that golden circle of lamplight in your cozy living room. Here sit the people who decide your life, who mold and shape your destiny. They know you, perhaps, better than you do. They share your joys, your disappointments, and sorrows. They are there when you need them, with unselfish help and advice and encouragement. They bear the brunt of your bad temper, held in check by polite society. They see you at your most unglamorous times. They go where you go and do what you do. They love you through thick and thin. In the last analysis the all-important factor in national greatness is national character.

Sam—Quackers and milk.

See that lake? said the jet pilot to his co-pilot. When I was a kid I'd sit down there in a boat, fishing. Every time a plane flew over I'd look up and dream I was piloting it. Now I look down and dream I'm fishing.

Report Red Fleet Of Trawlers Off Cape Cod Area

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP) — A fleet of 32 Russian trawlers, with two mother ships, has been reported on a fishing bank only 21 miles off Cape Cod.
Five Chatham fishermen reported the Russian fleet when they returned to port Wednesday night after a day at sea.
The Russian trawlers have been seen for many months off the Cape, but this is the closest they have been to the mainland.
The bank where the Chatham men reported seeing the Russians is less than 50 miles from Hyannis Port, where President Kennedy spent many summer weekends this year.

Ike Accepts JFK Bid to Revamp World Contacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has asked former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to head a revamped "people-to-people" organization. Eisenhower says he will be delighted to serve.
The announcement that Kennedy had enlisted his predecessor's services for the first time was made by Kennedy at his news conference Wednesday.

The President's statement included a cordial reference to Eisenhower, who just recently was coupling his support for Republican candidates in several elections with jobs at aspects of the Kennedy administration's record.

The people-to-people program was conceived by Eisenhower in 1966 as a vast effort to establish closer personal contacts between Americans of all occupations and interests and their opposite numbers in countries all over the world.

That year an organization was formed to carry out the program. It was dissolved in June 1958, but the United States Information Agency was to help its various committees to continue functioning. USIA continues to administer the program.

Eisenhower issued a statement at Gettysburg, Pa., saying he would go to Kansas City to discuss the program. The new organization has been incorporated as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of Missouri, with headquarters in Kansas City.

The new organization, USIA said, was made possible through financial and other assistance provided by Hallmark Foundation.

Olean Gets Six Inches of Snow

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Winter left its familiar white calling card—up to six inches of snow—in many parts of New York State early today.
Olean measured six inches. Five inches fell in parts of Cattaraugus County and three in Niagara County. Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Binghamton had an inch, and Sullivan County enough to make the ground white.
Flurries fell in other parts of the state.
The Weather Bureau forecast snow flurries, and occasional snow squalls, mostly at higher elevations, for today and tonight in all sections of the state except the New York City area.

May Enlist in AF At Former Grade

The Air Force has instituted a recruiting program for former members of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Air Force in which they may enlist in the Air Force in the grade they held at discharge.
To be eligible, veterans must possess a skill needed by the Air Force.
This new program is aimed directly at the technician and specialist who is needed by the Aerospace team. Grades authorized for prior-service enlistment are based on the grade held at the time of last separation from active military service.
Also considered are previous military job skills, aptitude scores, the length of separation from military service and the current needs of the Air Force.
Veterans should visit the nearest Air Force recruiting office or call and ask the recruiter to visit you. He will review your qualifications and explain in detail the prior service program.
The Air Force recruiting office is located at 597 Broadway, Kingston.

Lunch Box Costs Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lunch box cost Michael Cuevas, 40, his life.
The employee of a printing plant ran back for it Wednesday when fire swept the building. Firemen found him suffocated in a storage room when they extinguished the $109,000 blaze at Wolfer Printing Co., a downtown firm.

Bingo Survey Is Made in County, 10 More Upstate

NEW YORK (AP)—A bingo survey is being conducted in 11 Upstate counties, Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., acting commissioner in charge of a state bingo inquiry, announced today.

He said two teams from his staff were conducting the Moreland Commission inquiry in Broome, Erie, Jefferson, Monroe, Oneida, Onondaga, Rensselaer, Schenectady, Ulster, Washington and Warren counties.

The resulting data will form the basis for shaping changes the commission will recommend in statutes relating to bingo.

The survey teams are contacting city, town and village officials and representatives of organizations licensed to play bingo. The teams are seeking data on the nature and effectiveness of municipal regulation of bingo, the estimated cost of municipal administration of bingo, the experiences of licensed organizations under state and municipal regulation, and constructive suggestions.

Guards Go With Queen to Ghana

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II left by air for Ghana today to begin a 12-day state visit that many of her subjects had feared might place her in personal peril.
With her husband, Prince Philip, the 35-year-old monarch left aboard a special jetliner for the 3,600-mile journey to Accra. Armed Scotland Yard guards went with her.
The visit was in doubt until Wednesday while the government pondered whether the queen would be safe in Britain's former West African colony. Four bomb explosions in Accra and other signs of political opposition to the dictatorial regime of President Kwame Nkrumah aroused fears in the press and Parliament that the queen might herself be a target for demonstrators.
But Prime Minister Macmillan's government decided it was safe to let the visit go on.
The queen and Philip will tour Ghana until Nov. 20, then board the Royal yacht Britannia for visits to Liberia, Sierra Leone and Gambia. The queen will fly home from Dakar Dec. 6, while her husband will go to Dar-es-Salaam for ceremonies marking the independence of Tanganyika, which Britain has administered under a U.N. trusteeship.

Attorneys, CPA's Must Enroll for IRS Work

Attorneys and Certified Public Accountants who wish to practice before the Internal Revenue Service, must be enrolled either as an attorney or agent, local district director James A. O'Hara announced today.
The tax official said that interested lawyers and CPA's should file Form 23 (in duplicate) properly executed under oath. The application must be accompanied by a check or money order in the amount payable to the "Internal Revenue Service."

The director pointed out that enrollment cards, issued to attorneys, CPA's and others entitled to practice before the IRS, become void five years after the date of issuance. Renewals may be secured from one year before to one year after the expiration date of the card.

Practice Alert Set for Local National Guard

A surprise practice alert for members of the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, has been scheduled for some time next week.

This alert will summon all members of the battalion, including the three Kingston units and the two in Poughkeepsie.

Plans for the alert have been completed but the time of the alert will come as a surprise to the members as a test to ascertain how quickly the outfit could be assembled in case of need.

The men will be alerted by the sounding of fire alarms, augmented by radio announcements. The public is cautioned not to become alarmed when the practice alert call is sounded. It is not known when the signal will come next week.

When 60 per cent of the members are assembled at the armory the unit will go on a training schedule which has been specially prepared. This surprise practice routine which will be put into effect as soon as the men have assembled, is an annual requirement of all National Guard units.
